Soviets Say Dr. John Fled Voluntarily

Antispy Leader Has Knowledge To Wreck West Plans

BERLIN, July 23 (AP)—Soviet-controlled East Germany broadcast tonight that Dr. Otto John, West German security chief, fled voluntarily to the Communist zone. He has information which could wreck the West's whole counter-spy network in East Germany.

John, sometimes called "the man with a thousand secrets," left West Berlin three days ago and vanished in the East sector. Some Western authorities clung to the theory he had been kidnaped.

The East German radio said in its special broadcast John's task now would be to work for reunification of all Germany. It presented during the broadcast a voice it said was that of the missing West German Intelligence chief.

First Word Of John

It was the first word from the East about the man whose disappearance may force the United States and Britain to overhaul all their undergrbund operations in the East Zone.

In the Communist broadcast, the voice announced as John's said Germany was in danger of being torn apart forever and for that reason he decided to contact East Germans last Tuesday on the 10th anniversary of the July 20, 1944, bomb plot to assassinate Adolf Hitler.

He went on to say that German policy had come to a dead end but that the All-German Protestant Church rally at Leipzig earlier this month had shown there were still possibilities of achieving reunification.

Would Issue Pamphlet

He also said he would issue a pamphlet soon in which he would give detailed reasons for his actions and would submit proposals for reunification of Germany.

The broadcast was preceded by announcements on the Communist radio that an "important" special broadcast would be made by the East German Interior Ministry

Western monitors said the voice was clear and calm.

A short while later, ADN, the official East German news agency, distributed John's purported statement.

Western intelligence heard reports that a roundup already may be underway of East Germans who regularly send out information on Soviet activities.

Some doubt remained whether John, 44, was kidnaped by the Reds or defected East on his own Tuesday night.

U. S. Supports Contention

The U.S. High Commission view was that John was "trapped or forced" into the East and is now being held in Berlin's Soviet sector. It supported the West German government's contention that the official was kidnaped by Communists. British headquarters here remained not fully convinced.

West Berlin police, who had been directly responsible for John's safety while he was in this divided city, clung to the theory he and a doctor acquaintance voluntarily went to the Russian sector. They said John suffered "serious mental depression" recently and that a letter left behind by the doctor reported John would not return.

Texan Confesses He Slew Girl In Hotel, Put Body In Dresser

Victor Lively Seized On Highway, Admits Part After Long Grilling

ST. LOUIS, July 23 (AP)—Victor Lively, a short and stocky Texan, admitted today he choked an 18-year-old girl to death in an Indianapolis hotel room and then stuffed her body into a dresser drawer.

The confession to St. Louis County sheriff's deputies came three hours after the 32-year-old Lively was seized by two deputies while walking westward on a highway.

ADMITS SLAYING — Victor Lively, 32, formerly of Beaumont, Tex., yesterday admitted the brutal slaying of 18-year-old Dorothy Poore after his arrest by sheriff's deputies in St. Louis county. The girl's body was found stuffed in a dresser drawer in an Indianapolis hotel room.

He told the deputies, they said, that he became enraged when the girl protested about his drinking and that he choked her "three or four minutes until she was dead."

The body of Dorothy Poore, a high school graduate of Clinton, Ind., was discovered in the drawer last Sunday, three days after she was slain. It was clad in bra, panties and slip.

The 5-foot-3, auburn-haired Lively, who has unusually muscular arms, said he picked up the Poore girl earlier on the day of her death, in a hamburger stand in downtown Indianapolis.

Lively, who told deputies he had been married six times and had one child, was carrying a loaded .32 caliber automatic wrapped in a money sack and newspapers when he was arrested.

The arrest was made by Deputies Robert E. Wilkerson and Carroll Rowland, who noticed Lively emerge from some brush alongside the highway they were patroling in a car.

Lively said he left the girl's body on the hotel room floor for a while and then crammed it into the drawer.

At Beaumont, Detective Capt. J. W. Wingate said Lively had never been charged in a sex case but that he "used to lure women to his hotel room." Wingate added that Lively had a theft record as a juvenile.

Lively had worked as a cab driver in LaGrange, Ill., and for a laundry in Indianapolis. "The guy was crazy about women," the president of the laundry firm said. "He would whistle and yell at them as he walked down the street."

Plane Strikes Mountain, At Least 6 Dead

PIKEVILLE, Tenn., July 23 (AP)—A twin-engine airplane flying from Pontiac, Mich., to Miami, Fla crashed atop Brayton Mountain 15 miles east of here today, killing all occupants.

A newspaperman at the scene said the bodies were mutilated and no accurate count of the number of dead was immediately available, but that seven pocketbooks were found.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority at Chattanooga said the plane was a DeHaviland Dove, a twin-engined plane, which was en route from Pontiac to Miami. Officials declined to identify it further.

The Sawyers funeral home in Dayton, Tenn., where the mangled bodies were taken listed tentative identification of six persons, including two women.

Sawyers identified them as:

Gordon Wyrick, pilot, Pontiac, Mich., operator of Gordon Flying Service.

Lawrence Durham, Lawrence Springs, Mich.

H. E. Anthony, Benton Harbor, Mich.

Florence Brown, Lawrence Springs, Mich.

Laurel Brown, no address.

Gordon Paxson, no address.

The undertaker said the log of the airplane indicated it left Pontiac at 11:45 a.m., giving its destination as Tampa. The log also showed the plane had to go up to 13,000 feet to get above clouds and descended to 12,000 at 2:10 p.m.

Jet Crash Kills Child, Injures 4

WILLIAMS AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz., July 23 (AP)—A disabled F84 Thunderjet crashed into the officers' housing section at this Air Force base today, killing a child and injuring four persons on the ground.

The plane exploded and destroyed two houses and damaged another.

The pilot had bailed out when the F84 developed engine trouble near the base. He was reported injured upon landing.

The public information office reported 8-month-old Mathew Carl Watry was burned to death.

His parents, Capt. and Mrs. Charles A. Watry of Glendale, Calif., were burned seriously.

Another woman and child were burned but the extent of their injuries was not immediately learned.

The plane which crashed was one of the two returning from Del Rio Air Force Base, Tex., to Luke Air Force Base, Ariz.

SANTA MONICA, July 23 (AP)—Harpo Marx, who plays the mute comedian in the Marx brothers team, was operated on for a kidney ailment in St. John's Hospital here today. Dr. Fred Schlumberger, his attending physician, reported Marx in good condition.

French Halt Offense In Indochina

Cease Fire Effective Tuesday, Vietminh Still Attacks Delta

SAIGON, Indochina, July 23 (AP)—The French command called a halt to offensive action throughout Indochina today and announced the Geneva cease-fire will go into effect in North Viet Nam at 7 a.m. Tuesday, July 27. Vietminh forces kept up the fight in the Red River Delta today.

The cease-fire will not begin officially in other areas of Viet Nam until shortly afterward to give the Communist-led Vietminh time to get word of the agreement to scattered outposts without radio links to headquarters.

Guerrillas Attack

Vietminh guerrillas struck violently before dawn at the French post of Vietri, 40 miles northwest of Hanoi, and were harassing other garrisons in the Red River Delta, a French briefing officer reported. Red forces tore up 120 yards of rails on the Naoi-Haiphong supply line east of Hanoi, blew up a locomotive and attacked a French-Vietnamese post at Cheo Reo, 300 miles northeast of Saigon on the plateau and of central Vietnam.

Gen. Paul Ely, French commander in chief, warned that he will "unleash massive air support" unless the three Vietminh battalions at Cheo Reo stop firing. The French air force, which cut its operations down to 11 bombing missions in the 24 hours ending at dawn, showered leaflets over Vietminh positions. The leaflets announced the French had stopped offensive operations and demanded the Vietminh do the same.

The French aircraft carrier Bois Belleau, formerly the American Belleau Wood, has ceased all air activity. Based in the Gulf of Tonkin, the Bois Belleau carries American-supplied Hellcats and Helldivers.

Four-Point Agreement

The French command disclosed that a four-point agreement had been reached with Vietminh conferees at Trung Gia for the tapering off of military activities until the cease-fire goes into effect throughout Viet Nam.

The pact provides that:

1. No large-scale air, naval ground or river operations may be carried out in North Viet Nam by units of more than regimental or mobile group strength, or of greater than battalion strength with corresponding firepower elsewhere.

2. Measures are to be taken at once to halt all mine operations and sabotage of ground, river or sea communications.

3. French Union air forces agree to these restrictions: (a) halting bombardment and machine gunning in Vietminh zones, limiting activity to support of ground troops guarding communications lines, and stopping the use of napalm bombs; (b) using only one plane at a time for reconaissance, at a distance of no more than 15 miles from points held by French troops, and (c) carrying no transport north or northwest of the Haiphong-Haoi line. The Vietminh has no air force.

4. Measures will be taken to prevent evacuating troops from endangering the lives or property of the population, as well as industrial, cultural and health installations and public works.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 23 (AP)—Two U.S. warships will visit Stockholm Aug. 23-28, it was announced today.

War Criminals Freed

Fifteen war criminals serving 20 to 30 years prison terms are released from Sugamo Prison in Tokyo under a United States parole ruling. At left with bare heads are Gen. Sadao Araki and Adm. Shigetaro Shimada, major war criminals, bidding farewell to the released men. All were convicted by the International War Criminal Trial of crimes against the United States.

French Assembly Approves Peace By 471-14 Vote

PARIS, July 23 (AP)—The French National Assembly tonight overwhelmingly approved the cease-fire in Indochina after the two top French negotiators clashed sharply over the Geneva agreement that brought an end to nearly eight years of war.

The vote was 471 to 14.

The Assembly resolution said it greeted with "satisfaction the cessation of hostilities in Indochina, due, in a large measure, to the decisive action of the Premier."

Premier Pierre Mendes-France had set July 20 as the deadline for a cease-fire with the promise he would resign if he did not succeed.

Georges Bidault, the foreign minister who was displaced a little over a month ago in the midst of the Geneva negotiations by the fall of the Joseph Laniel government, bitterly attacked the government and compared it to the 1938 Munich pact which dismembered Czechoslovakia and left it ready to fall into Hitler's hands.

Bidault's Popular Republican Movement refused to give its sanction to a part of the resolution approving Mendes-France's report on the negotiations. But this part was approved by a vote of 501 to 93. The MRP then abstained on the final vote for the resolution as a whole.

Bidault said the Indochina states —Laos, Cambodia and Viet Nam— had been abandoned to communism and prevented from joining the only defense organization that could help them—the proposed Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

He added that the agreements amounted to French abandonment of its friends in Indochina.

Mendes-France said this was not so. He added that full precautions had been taken to permit the evacuation of any residents of Northern Viet Nam, which is being turned over to Communist administration.

Industrialist Dies

INDIANAPOLIS, July 23 (AP)—Edgar H. Evans, 84, Indianapolis industrialist and civic leader, died today at his summer home in Harbor Springs, Mich. He was president of the Acme-Evans Co., a milling concern, and was one of the founders of the Millers National Federation.

Diver Stays Under Water 24 Hours To Set Record

MIAMI, Fla., July 23 (AP)—Skin diver Ed Fisher earned a world endurance record today by camping on the ocean floor for a full 24 hours.

He popped to the surface at 3:10 p.m., just 24 hours and 2 minutes after diving to the floor of a coral reef canyon. His skin was blue and wrinkled like a prune and his head ached, but he and his surface associates were jubilant.

His long stay 30 feet below the surface of the sea off Key Largo was made as a free dive, in which he had no direct connection with the airy world above him.

The 26-year-old Fisher a native of New York, was exhausted by the underwater test but apparently suffered no ill effects.

Sentence Girl's Slayer To Hang

ELLICOTT CITY, July 23 (AP)—Eugene E. Bryant, baby-faced 21-year-old veteran of the fighting in Korea, was sentenced today to hang for the slaying of his pregnant 17-year-old sweetheart.

"You promised to marry that girl," Circuit Judge James Clark told Bryant before he invoked the death penalty. "When she told you that she was going to bear you a child and asked you to keep that promise, you got a gun and shot her down.

"Your crime was so brutal, your killing of that girl so cool, so calculated, so cruel that there can be no question as to where my responsibility lies."

The victim was Joan Marie Ruzza, found dead of five bullet wounds April 8 in an alley four blocks from her home at Capitol Heights, Md., a suburb of Washington.

Judge Clark set the execution for the week of Sept. 5 but all death sentences imposed in Maryland go almost automatically to the Court of Appeals at Annapolis.

Greece Gets Butter

ATHENS, Greece, July 23 (AP)—The U.S. Embassy said today a million pounds of surplus American butter valued at $600,000 has been given to Greece.

It will be distributed to institutions only and not put on the market for sale.

Doctor Denies Wrongdoing At Murder Inquest

CLEVELAND, July 23 (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard denied today at an inquest into his wife's murder that he had committed adultery in California with a young hospital technician.

Coroner Samuel H. Gerber hammered away at the 30-year-old osteopath's story of his relations with Miss Susan Hayes when they spent four days last spring at the home of mutual friends.

"Didn't you and Miss Hayes sleep in the same bedroom?" the coroner asked.

"No," Dr. Sheppard replied.

Q. "Did you sleep in the same bedroom with her at any time?" A. "Absolutely not."

Q. "Did you have sexual relations with Miss Hayes during your stay in Los Angeles?" A. "No."

The doctor denied that he had ever been intimate with the woman, or that he had slept four nights in the same bedroom with her at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller in Los Angeles.

"Incidentally," Dr. Sheppard said, "We were good friends for a long time. This my wife knew, and my wife suggested I contact her there."

The osteopath, whose 31-year-old wife, Marilyn, was hacked to death in her bed July 4, testified yesterday that he went to the West coast for postgraduate work. He said his wife stayed at a ranch with friends; he checked into a motel, then came across Dr. Miller, an old friend, and was invited to his home.

Dr. Sheppard, bristling with anger at times and then wiping tears from his eyes as he recounted finding his wife's body, completed his testimony after 5½ hours of questioning.

He took the stand late yesterday to begin his story of the sensational lakefront murder in suburban Bay Village.

2 Men Rob Payroll

MONTREAL, July 23 (AP)—Two masked gunmen today escaped with $23,742 in a highway robbery near Joliette. Police said the money was a payroll for the Howard Smith Paper Co. and was being transported in a taxi by the paymaster and his assistant.

Ike's Forces Gain Ground In House Vote

Senate Still Blocks AEC Plans By Long Drawn Out Filibuster

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—In a terrific, two-front struggle over atomic legislation, the Eisenhower administration won a big skirmish in the House tonight but still faced a stone wall erected by filibustering senators.

By a standing vote of 161-118, the House approved a provision designed to keep the Atomic Energy Commission out of the business of producing power for commercial purposes.

The administration bill, a broad revision of present atomic law, provides among other things for inviting private business into the field of atomic power for peacetime purposes. Administration men contend that is in accordance with the American system of free enterprise but their critics, mostly Democrats, argue that the bill is so drawn as to turn vast national atomic resources over to "private monopoly."

Senate Deals Blow

Last night, in the midst of its marathon session, the Senate dealt a blow to the administration on this issue. On motion of Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo), it voted 45-41 to authorize the Atomic Energy Commission and other federal agencies to build plants big enough to produce power commercially. Cooperatives and publicly-owned utilities would get first call on any surplus power from such plants.

But when an identical amendment was offered in the House by Rep. Metcalf (D-Mont), Eisenhower lieutenants in that chamber showed they were in complete control.

Quickly, the House ditched the Metcalf plan and substituted one by Rep. Cole (R-NY), which declares in effect:

Nothing in atomic law authorizes the AEC to sell or distribute any electricity except that produced as a byproduct in its research plants.

If both chambers should stand on their decisions, the struggle would be transferred to a Senate-House conference committee.

On the Senate side of the capital, the talkfest passed its 58th hour at 1 p. m. and the White House declared "the filibuster . . . is jeopardizing enactment of key items in the legislative program."

Senate GOP leaders appealed to the Senate to put a time limit on the bitter debate, but they ran into the same wall of opposition that has been standing since this virtually continuous session began Wednesday morning.

Attitude Is Expressed

The White House attitude was expressed by Press Secretary James C. Hagerty. It was in elaboration of a brief exchange of Hagerty's daily news conference.

Hagerty was asked at that conference whether the day-and-night Senate deliberations on the atomic dispute were delaying the President's program "too much." He replied then with a simple, "I don't believe so."

DETROIT, July 23 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers International ordered Chrysler Corp. strikers back to work tonight on a finding that their walkout was unauthorized and a contract violation.

Impotent Sex Hormone May Be Drug To Combat Cancer

SAO PAULO, Brazil, July 23 (AP)—Sex hormones stripped of their sex magic offer new hope for drugs to combat cancer of the breast and prostate gland.

These impotant hormones would be aimed at neutralizing regular sex hormones, which actually supply the fuel that makes some cancers grow.

Just traces of female sex hormones can be poison for some women with breast cancer and traces of the male hormone can activate some prostatic cancers in men.

And traces of female sex hormones have been found in such things as one brand of peanut butter, soybeans, and even the water of the Dead Sea.

Some flare-ups of cancers could be due to a person getting traces of sex hormones somewhere even after his or her own sex glands have been removed. Impotent hormones might be a good defense.

The brilliant chemical work which has produced these desexed hormones was described at the 6th International Cancer Congress here by Dr. Charles Huggins of the University of Chicago.

He said these hormones are being used in human and animal studies, but it is too early for the results.

Chemicals are the newest development in the counterattack on these two very common types of cancers. Removing the sex glands often helps for a time in depriving breast cancer of the female sex gland and prostatic cancer of the male sex hormone.

But the adrenal glands also can produce some sex hormones. Huggins pioneered in the surgery of removing the adrenal glands, giving patients daily doses of cortisone to make up for the lost adrenal glands.

Forty per cent of 162 women who were completely at the end of their rope from breast cancer have won new health and a normal life for at least 15 months from adrenal removal. The first patient operated on three years ago is doing fine still.

Good benefits come only if the women have the type of cancer which needs the female sex hormone. This can be determined by microscopic examination of the cancer.

Byrd Requests Convention Refrain From Naming Governor

[By The Associated Press]

H. C. Byrd said today he will suggest to the Democratic state convention that it refrain from officially designating him as the party's nominee for governor when it meets in Baltimore Monday.

Byrd said he was taking that course of action "out of deference to the courts of Maryland and their authority to decide the pending appeals of my opponent."

He said he would suggest that the party simply hold a meeting, receive the report of the Credentials Committee to determine the delegates are properly qualified "without taking any other action."

Byrd said he was advising that course "even though my opponent has lost three county recounts and the one Baltimore recount he filed and has already lost two court decisions on appeals from the election supervisors."

In Centreville, meanwhile, Howard Wood 3d, a 37-year-old lawyer, was appointed to investigate charges of widespread vote-buying in Queen Anne's County.

Wood, though a Democrat has not been politically active and has links with neither Byrd nor his opponent, George P. Mahoney, whose legal advisers issued the charge.

Hyman Pressman, Mahoney attorney, claims to have affidavits or notarized statements from five persons who said they were given money to vote for Byrd in the Democratic primary June 28.

Byrd defeated Mahoney as the nominee for governor by a margin of 80 unit votes to 72.

Shortly after his appointment, Wood said he had not had time to figure out what course his investigation will take.

He was named to look into the charges after Queen Anne's County State's Attorney Clayton C. Carter disqualified himself because he was a successful candidate on the Byrd ticket. Carter ran for county commissioner.

Chief Judge William R. Horney of the Second Judicial District signed the order appointing Wood "state's attorney, pro tempore."

The order said Wood would "perform the duties of the state's attorney of Queen Anne's County in conducting any and all investigations and (or) prosecutions concerning violations of any of the election laws either before, during or after primary election day."

Meanwhile, the county board of election supervisors met as the board of canvassers and made an official report on the results of the recount demanded by Mahoney.

They gave the clerk of circuit court the final figure, 1,835 for Byrd and 1,813 for Mahoney. The 22-vote Byrd margin was what remained of an original 53-vote margin before the recount.

Since the change in results was well over the prescribed two per cent, the county will pay the $1,800 cost of the recount. However, had the change been less than two per cent, Mahoney would have had to foot the bill.

It was pointed out a voting machine could have been purchased for about $1,800.

The Democratic party picture elsewhere in the state was no more harmonious than that which existed in Queen Anne's County.

The Court of Appeals meets Monday at 10 a.m. to hear an appeal from Mahoney aides who want access to election records in Calvert County and one from Judge Joseph L. Carter's decision denying Mahoney's lawyers access to voting records in Baltimore's fourth district.

Just a few hours after the court meets to look into the unsolved family struggle, the state party convention meets.

Rep. Younger Backing Bill Creating Urbiculture Post

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—Rep. J. Arthur Younger (R-Calif) today introduced a bill to create a Department of Urbiculture at a Cabinet level.

By urbiculture, he said, he means he wants a department devoted to the problems and the welfare of city people.

"I'm serious about this," Younger said. "When the Department of Agriculture was set up, 75 per cent of our people lived on farms.

"Now around 75 per cent of our people live in urban communities, and it's time we were doing scientific research and study on their economic and social problems.

"There is, for example, a definite need for a study of the proper use of urban land."

Obviously, with Congress struggling to get out of town, Younger's bill isn't going to get anywhere this session. But he figures it's a good time to throw the idea in and see what happens.

Younger says he has no quarrel with agriculture. How could he, when his district is a leader in the nation's production of artichokes?

But he says he has noticed that congressmen from agricultural districts always are able to speak with authority whereas the city congressman is at a disadvantage.

"Such problems as housing, decentralization, the defense of our cities in case of attack—why, the agencies that deal with these are scattered all over the place."

By the way, that word, urbiculture. Where did he get it?

"You won't find it in the dictionary, and I couldn't find any other that seemed to fit. So," he said, "I made it up."

Today's Chuckle

When a very, very fat young woman walked into the room, four fellows over the punch bowl started laughing and pointing.

"There they go," she muttered angrily, "having fun at my expanse again."

The cease-fire will not begin officially in other areas of Viet Nam until shortly afterward to give the Communist-led Vietminh time to get word of the agreement to scattered outposts without radio links to headquarters.

Guerrillas Attack

Vietminh guerrillas struck violently before dawn at the French post of Vietri, 40 miles northwest of Hanoi, and were harassing other garrisons in the Red River Delta, a French briefing officer reported. Red forces tore up 120 yards of rails on the Naoi-Haiphong supply line east of Hanoi, blew up a locomotive and attacked a French-Vietnamese post at Cheo Reo, 300 miles northeast of Saigon on the plateau and of central Vietnam.

Gen. Paul Ely, French commander in chief, warned that he will "unleash massive air support" unless the three Vietminh battalions at Cheo Reo stop firing. The French air force, which cut its operations down to 11 bombing missions in the 24 hours ending at dawn, showered leaflets over Vietminh positions. The leaflets announced the French had stopped offensive operations and demanded the Vietminh do the same.

The French aircraft carrier Bois Belleau, formerly the American Belleau Wood, has ceased all air activity. Based in the Gulf of Tonkin, the Bois Belleau carries American-supplied Hellcats and Helldivers.

Four-Point Agreement

The French command disclosed that a four-point agreement had been reached with Vietminh conferees at Trung Gia for the tapering off of military activities until the cease-fire goes into effect throughout Viet Nam.

The pact provides that:

1. No large-scale air, naval ground or river operations may be carried out in North Viet Nam by units of more than regimental or mobile group strength, or of greater than battalion strength with corresponding firepower elsewhere.

2. Measures are to be taken at once to halt all mine operations and sabotage of ground, river or sea communications.

3. French Union air forces agree to these restrictions: (a) halting bombardment and machine gunning in Vietminh zones, limiting activity to support of ground troops guarding communications lines, and stopping the use of napalm bombs; (b) using only one plane at a time for reconaissance, at a distance of no more than 15 miles from points held by French troops, and (c) carrying no transport north or northwest of the Haiphong-Haoi line. The Vietminh has no air force.

4. Measures will be taken to prevent evacuating troops from endangering the lives or property of the population, as well as industrial, cultural and health installations and public works.

Will Visit Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 23 (AP)—Two U.S. warships will visit Stockholm Aug. 23-28, it was announced today.

War Criminals Freed

Fifteen war criminals serving 20 to 30 years prison terms are released from Sugamo Prison in Tokyo under a United States parole ruling. At left with bare heads are Gen. Sadao Araki and Adm. Shigetaro Shimada, major war criminals, bidding farewell to the released men. All were convicted by the International War Criminal Trial of crimes against the United States.

French Assembly Approves Peace By 471-14 Vote

PARIS, July 23 (AP)—The French National Assembly tonight overwhelmingly approved the cease-fire in Indochina after the two top French negotiators clashed sharply over the Geneva agreement that brought an end to nearly eight years of war.

The vote was 471 to 14.

The Assembly resolution said it greeted with "satisfaction the cessation of hostilities in Indochina, due, in a large measure, to the decisive action of the Premier."

Premier Pierre Mendes-France had set July 20 as the deadline for a cease-fire with the promise he would resign if he did not succeed.

Georges Bidault, the foreign minister who was displaced a little over a month ago in the midst of the Geneva negotiations by the fall of the Joseph Laniel government, bitterly attacked the government and compared it to the 1938 Munich pact which dismembered Czechoslovakia and left it ready to fall into Hitler's hands.

Bidault's Popular Republican Movement refused to give its sanction to a part of the resolution approving Mendes-France's report on the negotiations. But this part was approved by a vote of 501 to 93. The MRP then abstained on the final vote for the resolution as a whole.

Bidault said the Indochina states —Laos, Cambodia and Viet Nam— had been abandoned to communism and prevented from joining the only defense organization that could help them—the proposed Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

He added that the agreements amounted to French abandonment of its friends in Indochina.

Mendes-France said this was not so. He added that full precautions had been taken to permit the evacuation of any residents of Northern Viet Nam, which is being turned over to Communist administration.

Industrialist Dies

INDIANAPOLIS, July 23 (AP)—Edgar H. Evans, 84, Indianapolis industrialist and civic leader, died today at his summer home in Harbor Springs, Mich. He was president of the Acme-Evans Co., a milling concern, and was one of the founders of the Millers National Federation.

Diver Stays Under Water 24 Hours To Set Record

MIAMI, Fla., July 23 (AP)—Skin diver Ed Fisher earned a world endurance record today by camping on the ocean floor for a full 24 hours.

He popped to the surface at 3:10 p.m., just 24 hours and 2 minutes after diving to the floor of a coral reef canyon. His skin was blue and wrinkled like a prune and his head ached, but he and his surface associates were jubilant.

His long stay 30 feet below the surface of the sea off Key Largo was made as a free dive, in which he had no direct connection with the airy world above him.

The 26-year-old Fisher a native of New York, was exhausted by the underwater test but apparently suffered no ill effects.

Sentence Girl's Slayer To Hang

ELLICOTT CITY, July 23 (AP)—Eugene E. Bryant, baby-faced 21-year-old veteran of the fighting in Korea, was sentenced today to hang for the slaying of his pregnant 17-year-old sweetheart.

"You promised to marry that girl," Circuit Judge James Clark told Bryant before he invoked the death penalty. "When she told you that she was going to bear you a child and asked you to keep that promise, you got a gun and shot her down.

"Your crime was so brutal, your killing of that girl so cool, so calculated, so cruel that there can be no question as to where my responsibility lies."

The victim was Joan Marie Ruzza, found dead of five bullet wounds April 8 in an alley four blocks from her home at Capitol Heights, Md., a suburb of Washington.

Judge Clark set the execution for the week of Sept. 5 but all death sentences imposed in Maryland go almost automatically to the Court of Appeals at Annapolis.

Greece Gets Butter

ATHENS, Greece, July 23 (AP)—The U.S. Embassy said today a million pounds of surplus American butter valued at $600,000 has been given to Greece.

It will be distributed to institutions only and not put on the market for sale.

Doctor Denies Wrongdoing At Murder Inquest

CLEVELAND, July 23 (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard denied today at an inquest into his wife's murder that he had committed adultery in California with a young hospital technician.

Coroner Samuel H. Gerber hammered away at the 30-year-old osteopath's story of his relations with Miss Susan Hayes when they spent four days last spring at the home of mutual friends.

"Didn't you and Miss Hayes sleep in the same bedroom?" the coroner asked.

"No," Dr. Sheppard replied.

Q. "Did you sleep in the same bedroom with her at any time?" A. "Absolutely not."

Q. "Did you have sexual relations with Miss Hayes during your stay in Los Angeles?" A. "No."

The doctor denied that he had ever been intimate with the woman, or that he had slept four nights in the same bedroom with her at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller in Los Angeles.

"Incidentally," Dr. Sheppard said, "We were good friends for a long time. This my wife knew, and my wife suggested I contact her there."

The osteopath, whose 31-year-old wife, Marilyn, was hacked to death in her bed July 4, testified yesterday that he went to the West coast for postgraduate work. He said his wife stayed at a ranch with friends; he checked into a motel, then came across Dr. Miller, an old friend, and was invited to his home.

Dr. Sheppard, bristling with anger at times and then wiping tears from his eyes as he recounted finding his wife's body, completed his testimony after 5½ hours of questioning.

He took the stand late yesterday to begin his story of the sensational lakefront murder in suburban Bay Village.

2 Men Rob Payroll

MONTREAL, July 23 (AP)—Two masked gunmen today escaped with $23,742 in a highway robbery near Joliette. Police said the money was a payroll for the Howard Smith Paper Co. and was being transported in a taxi by the paymaster and his assistant.

Ike's Forces Gain Ground In House Vote

Senate Still Blocks AEC Plans By Long Drawn Out Filibuster

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—In a terrific, two-front struggle over atomic legislation, the Eisenhower administration won a big skirmish in the House tonight but still faced a stone wall erected by filibustering senators.

By a standing vote of 161-118, the House approved a provision designed to keep the Atomic Energy Commission out of the business of producing power for commercial purposes.

The administration bill, a broad revision of present atomic law, provides among other things for inviting private business into the field of atomic power for peacetime purposes. Administration men contend that is in accordance with the American system of free enterprise but their critics, mostly Democrats, argue that the bill is so drawn as to turn vast national atomic resources over to "private monopoly."

Senate Deals Blow

Last night, in the midst of its marathon session, the Senate dealt a blow to the administration on this issue. On motion of Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo), it voted 45-41 to authorize the Atomic Energy Commission and other federal agencies to build plants big enough to produce power commercially. Cooperatives and publicly-owned utilities would get first call on any surplus power from such plants.

But when an identical amendment was offered in the House by Rep. Metcalf (D-Mont), Eisenhower lieutenants in that chamber showed they were in complete control.

Quickly, the House ditched the Metcalf plan and substituted one by Rep. Cole (R-NY), which declares in effect:

Nothing in atomic law authorizes the AEC to sell or distribute any electricity except that produced as a byproduct in its research plants.

If both chambers should stand on their decisions, the struggle would be transferred to a Senate-House conference committee.

On the Senate side of the capital, the talkfest passed its 58th hour at 1 p. m. and the White House declared "the filibuster . . . is jeopardizing enactment of key items in the legislative program."

Senate GOP leaders appealed to the Senate to put a time limit on the bitter debate, but they ran into the same wall of opposition that has been standing since this virtually continuous session began Wednesday morning.

Attitude Is Expressed

The White House attitude was expressed by Press Secretary James C. Hagerty. It was in elaboration of a brief exchange of Hagerty's daily news conference.

Hagerty was asked at that conference whether the day-and-night Senate deliberations on the atomic dispute were delaying the President's program "too much." He replied then with a simple, "I don't believe so."

Auto Strike Ends

DETROIT, July 23 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers International ordered Chrysler Corp. strikers back to work tonight on a finding that their walkout was unauthorized and a contract violation.

Impotent Sex Hormone May Be Drug To Combat Cancer

SAO PAULO, Brazil, July 23 (AP)—Sex hormones stripped of their sex magic offer new hope for drugs to combat cancer of the breast and prostate gland.

These impotant hormones would be aimed at neutralizing regular sex hormones, which actually supply the fuel that makes some cancers grow.

Just traces of female sex hormones can be poison for some women with breast cancer and traces of the male hormone can activate some prostatic cancers in men.

And traces of female sex hormones have been found in such things as one brand of peanut butter, soybeans, and even the water of the Dead Sea.

Some flare-ups of cancers could be due to a person getting traces of sex hormones somewhere even after his or her own sex glands have been removed. Impotent hormones might be a good defense.

The brilliant chemical work which has produced these desexed hormones was described at the 6th International Cancer Congress here by Dr. Charles Huggins of the University of Chicago.

He said these hormones are being used in human and animal studies, but it is too early for the results.

Chemicals are the newest development in the counterattack on these two very common types of cancers. Removing the sex glands often helps for a time in depriving breast cancer of the female sex gland and prostatic cancer of the male sex hormone.

But the adrenal glands also can produce some sex hormones. Huggins pioneered in the surgery of removing the adrenal glands, giving patients daily doses of cortisone to make up for the lost adrenal glands.

Forty per cent of 162 women who were completely at the end of their rope from breast cancer have won new health and a normal life for at least 15 months from adrenal removal. The first patient operated on three years ago is doing fine still.

Good benefits come only if the women have the type of cancer which needs the female sex hormone. This can be determined by microscopic examination of the cancer.

Byrd Requests Convention Refrain From Naming Governor

[By The Associated Press]

H. C. Byrd said today he will suggest to the Democratic state convention that it refrain from officially designating him as the party's nominee for governor when it meets in Baltimore Monday.

Byrd said he was taking that course of action "out of deference to the courts of Maryland and their authority to decide the pending appeals of my opponent."

He said he would suggest that the party simply hold a meeting, receive the report of the Credentials Committee to determine the delegates are properly qualified "without taking any other action."

Byrd said he was advising that course "even though my opponent has lost three county recounts and the one Baltimore recount he filed and has already lost two court decisions on appeals from the election supervisors."

In Centreville, meanwhile, Howard Wood 3d, a 37-year-old lawyer, was appointed to investigate charges of widespread vote-buying in Queen Anne's County.

Wood, though a Democrat has not been politically active and has links with neither Byrd nor his opponent, George P. Mahoney, whose legal advisers issued the charge.

Hyman Pressman, Mahoney attorney, claims to have affidavits or notarized statements from five persons who said they were given money to vote for Byrd in the Democratic primary June 28.

Byrd defeated Mahoney as the nominee for governor by a margin of 80 unit votes to 72.

Shortly after his appointment, Wood said he had not had time to figure out what course his investigation will take.

He was named to look into the charges after Queen Anne's County State's Attorney Clayton C. Carter disqualified himself because he was a successful candidate on the Byrd ticket. Carter ran for county commissioner.

Chief Judge William R. Horney of the Second Judicial District signed the order appointing Wood "state's attorney, pro tempore."

The order said Wood would "perform the duties of the state's attorney of Queen Anne's County in conducting any and all investigations and (or) prosecutions concerning violations of any of the election laws either before, during or after primary election day."

Meanwhile, the county board of election supervisors met as the board of canvassers and made an official report on the results of the recount demanded by Mahoney.

They gave the clerk of circuit court the final figure, 1,835 for Byrd and 1,813 for Mahoney. The 22-vote Byrd margin was what remained of an original 53-vote margin before the recount.

Since the change in results was well over the prescribed two per cent, the county will pay the $1,800 cost of the recount. However, had the change been less than two per cent, Mahoney would have had to foot the bill.

It was pointed out a voting machine could have been purchased for about $1,800.

The Democratic party picture elsewhere in the state was no more harmonious than that which existed in Queen Anne's County.

The Court of Appeals meets Monday at 10 a.m. to hear an appeal from Mahoney aides who want access to election records in Calvert County and one from Judge Joseph L. Carter's decision denying Mahoney's lawyers access to voting records in Baltimore's fourth district.

Just a few hours after the court meets to look into the unsolved family struggle, the state party convention meets.

Rep. Younger Backing Bill Creating Urbiculture Post

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—Rep. J. Arthur Younger (R-Calif) today introduced a bill to create a Department of Urbiculture at a Cabinet level.

By urbiculture, he said, he means he wants a department devoted to the problems and the welfare of city people.

"I'm serious about this," Younger said. "When the Department of Agriculture was set up, 75 per cent of our people lived on farms.

"Now around 75 per cent of our people live in urban communities, and it's time we were doing scientific research and study on their economic and social problems.

"There is, for example, a definite need for a study of the proper use of urban land."

Obviously, with Congress struggling to get out of town, Younger's bill isn't going to get anywhere this session. But he figures it's a good time to throw the idea in and see what happens.

Younger says he has no quarrel with agriculture. How could he, when his district is a leader in the nation's production of artichokes?

But he says he has noticed that congressmen from agricultural districts always are able to speak with authority whereas the city congressman is at a disadvantage.

"Such problems as housing, decentralization, the defense of our cities in case of attack—why, the agencies that deal with these are scattered all over the place."

By the way, that word, urbiculture. Where did he get it?

"You won't find it in the dictionary, and I couldn't find any other that seemed to fit. So," he said, "I made it up."

Today's Chuckle

When a very, very fat young woman walked into the room, four fellows over the punch bowl started laughing and pointing.

"There they go," she muttered angrily, "having fun at my expanse again."

Stricken Aircraft Crashes Into Sea

10 Of 18 Persons Aboard Are Missing Near China Coast

HONG KONG, Saturday, July 24 (AP)—A stricken British airliner with 18 aboard—six of them Americans—crashed in the sea near the Red Chinese island of Hainan yesterday and there were only 8 known survivors.

The eight, dazed and injured, were picked up quickly from their rubber life rafts by a U.S. flying boat as Communist craft swarmed out from Hainan, big Communist sea and air base off the South China coast.

One passenger, a Chinese woman, was taken dead into the flying boat. The fate of the nine others was in doubt, but witnesses in other planes said all should have been saved if they were not trapped in the plane. The plan went down within a minute after it hit.

These witnesses, who watched the Skymaster hit the water with one of its four engines burning, said they saw boats pick up at least three. If true, they probably are in Communist hands.

A Singapore report that three more had been picked up by a British flying boat proved erroneous. The search for more survivors was abandoned after sweeps of the area turned up nothing.

Three of those saved were Americans. The wife and daughter of one family were saved, but the husband and two young sons were among the missing.

They were the Leonard L. Parish family. They were flying from Bandoeng, Java, where they were living, to visit his parents in Iowa Park, Tex.

Mrs. Parish was in a Hong Kong hospital with a broken back. Her daughter, Valerie, 6, suffered severe cuts and bruises.

All the survivors were brought to Hong Kong hospitals for treatment for shock, bruises, cuts and other injuries. P. S. Thatcher of Stonington, Conn., the third American rescued, had a leg injury.

GOP Convention To Begin Today In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, July 23 (AP)—Maryland Republicans, with a gleeful eye on the wrangling in a divided Democratic Party, go through the formality here tomorrow of choosing Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin to lead their fight to stay in power.

Little out of the ordinary is expected at the Republican state convention getting underway in the ballroom of the Lord Baltimore Hotel at 1 p.m.

McKeldin will receive the 152 unit votes he won in a smashing victory over three opponents in the June 28th primary; Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins will be renominated; the party will declare its platform and there'll be some speechmaking.

Party leaders will then settle back to await final determination of McKeldin's opponent before he strikes out on a campaign to become the first Republican governor in Maryland history to win re-election.

Barring an upset of election results by the Maryland Court of Appeals, he will be opposed by Dr. H. C. Byrd, who picked up 80 unit votes in the Democratic primary to 72 for George P. Mahoney.

While the Democrats wrestled with their convention and other problems, Republicans methodically went about the business of setting up tomorrow's meeting.

Party leaders worked through the afternoon hammering out a platform to be presented tomorrow. It is expected to be based on the record of the McKeldin administration the past four years, with emphasis on accomplishments in road building, health services, teacher salaries, and penal and parole improvements.

The governor, in addition to conferences in Baltimore on these matters, also worked with aides on the speech with which he will accept the nomination. He will be nominated by Miss Bertha Adkins, Republican national committeewoman for Maryland.

Sen. Butler (R-Md) will give the keynote address and will serve as temporary chairman through the naming of committees on credentials and organizational procedure and on resolutions.

Bulldozer Turns Up Buried Bones

ELLICOTT CITY, Md., July 23 (AP)—State Police said bones turned up today on a nearby construction job apparently were from a forgotten cemetery.

A bulldozer uncovered the bones of an adult on the site for a truck weighing station on the south side of U.S. 40 about three miles west of Ellicott City. Workmen using hand shovels turned up two more skeletons, one of an adult, and one of a child.

Dr. Charles S. Whitaker deputy medical examiner for Howard County, said the bones looked about 50 years old. Scraps of clothing and wood also were found.

French Official Is Assassinated

MARRAKECH, French Morocco, July 23 (AP)—Terrorists fired four bullets into a French official as he walked down the stairs of his apartment building today. The official—Claude Thivent—died a few minutes later. The assassins escaped.

The shooting of Thivent, an administrator in the Bureau of Urban Affairs, was another in a long series of assassinations of Frenchmen and pro-French Moroccans. Thivent, had replaced another French official who was shot and wounded by ultra-nationalists striving to overthrow French rule in this North African protectorate.

Byrd Demands Prompt Housing Prosecutions

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va) said today that housing investigations have uncovered an "unsavory concoction of malfeasance, greed, collusion and graft," and he demanded that Atty. Gen. Brownell start prosecutions promptly.

The situation, Byrd said in a speech prepared for Senate delivery, "is one of the most scandalous in the history of our government's operations."

Of more than 60 billion dollars in federal subsidies for housing in the last 15 years, in the form of loans, loan insurance, grants and appropriations the senator said, nobody ever will know how much has gone to "profiteers."

"Day by day the exposures continue," he said, "but efforts to prosecute the guilty are not obvious. In view of multimillion dollar windfalls, it is inconceivable that no instances of fraud and graft occurred."

Byrd said it is clear to him that with prope; effort many prosecutions could be started, leading off with Clyde L. Powell, who was fired last April as assistant commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration.

Powell twice has invoked the Fifth Amendment against possible self-incrimination and refused to testify at Senate Banking Committee investigations of the housing situation.

For weeks, the committee has been bringing out testimony that FHA guaranteed numerous loans for apartments at figures far above construction costs, with the builders pocketing the difference, to the extent of millions in what Byrd called windfall profits. Investigators say tenants pay higher tentals as a result.

It is evident, Byrd said, that such windfalls "are likely to have involved collusion."

The committee unfolded more testimony today that guaranteed mortgages exceeded construction costs by some $500,000 for four New Jersey apartments and by $367,000 for three others here in Washington.

Army Officer Found Innocent

FT. DIX, N.J., July 23 (AP)—An eight-man Army court-martial board tonight found Lt. Richard S. Morgan, 28, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., innocent of charges of "dereliction of duty" for allegedly allowing a company of trainees to stand at attention in 92-degree heat for almost an hour.

The eight officers deliberated an hour in making their decision after two days of hearings in which Morgan testified in his own defense.

The young lieutenant, who was wounded in action in Germany in World War II, and was recalled to service in 1951 after officer training in a reserve unit at Lafayette College, had denied that he had any part in the incident which occurred at Ft. Dix June 21.

He was accused of failing in his duty by allowing his administrative assistant, Sgt. 1.C. Richard J. Witbeck, 24, of Wellington, Ohio, to keep the company of 225 trainees at attention in sweltering heat for nearly an hour. Several of the men of Company L, 272nd Infantry Rgt., were reported to have fained during the period.

Department Store Sales Show Jump

RICHMOND, July 23 (AP)—Department store sales in the Baltimore metropolitan area jumped 21 per cent last week, the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond reported today, and the dollar volume of business so far in 1954 is at exactly the same level as in the first 6½ months of 1953.

Department stores in other areas of the Fifth Federal Reserve District, have reported sales volume off between 2 and 5 per cent so far this year, with 2 per cent the district-wide average.

Rising Food Prices Edge Nation's Living Costs Up

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—Rising food prices edged living costs up slightly in June to the highest point since January and close to last October's peak.

The government Bureau of Labor Statistics reported its index rose one tenth of one per cent. This brought the index to 115.1 per cent of the 1947-49 average, compared with 115.0 in May and October's 115.4 record level.

Generally speaking, living costs are holding stable. They are only one half of one percent above a year ago. Statistics Commissioner Ewan Clague said the outlook is for "continued strength" in consumer prices without much change either way.

Clague noted that while prices are higher so is worker income, or purchasing power. Average factory worker earnings increased 94 cents between May and June to $71.68, the largest increase since December, 1952. This was attributed partly to pay raises and partly to some increase in working hours. However, the weekly earnings of average factory workers are 36 cents under last year's postwar peak for the month of June.

Higher prices for fresh fruits and coffee led the June food price advance of four tenths of one per cent. Fresh vegetable prices were down, with such sharp cuts as 28 per cent for tomatoes, 25 per cent for green beans, 24 per cent for lettuce and 13 per cent for cabbage.

But new crop potatoes were 27 per cent higher and celery was up 13 per cent. Meat, egg, and milk prices were down a bit. Apparel costs were lower, as were prices for such items as used cars, auto tires and gasoline.

Rents were unchanged in June—the first month since World War II they have not gone up. Some slight rent increases were reported in large cities and there were some reductions in smaller communities.

A Singapore report that three more had been picked up by a British flying boat proved erroneous. The search for more survivors was abandoned after sweeps of the area turned up nothing.

Three of those saved were Americans. The wife and daughter of one family were saved, but the husband and two young sons were among the missing.

They were the Leonard L. Parish family. They were flying from Bandoeng, Java, where they were living, to visit his parents in Iowa Park, Tex.

Mrs. Parish was in a Hong Kong hospital with a broken back. Her daughter, Valerie, 6, suffered severe cuts and bruises.

All the survivors were brought to Hong Kong hospitals for treatment for shock, bruises, cuts and other injuries. P. S. Thatcher of Stonington, Conn., the third American rescued, had a leg injury.

GOP Convention To Begin Today In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, July 23 (AP)—Maryland Republicans, with a gleeful eye on the wrangling in a divided Democratic Party, go through the formality here tomorrow of choosing Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin to lead their fight to stay in power.

Little out of the ordinary is expected at the Republican state convention getting underway in the ballroom of the Lord Baltimore Hotel at 1 p.m.

McKeldin will receive the 152 unit votes he won in a smashing victory over three opponents in the June 28th primary; Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins will be renominated; the party will declare its platform and there'll be some speechmaking.

Party leaders will then settle back to await final determination of McKeldin's opponent before he strikes out on a campaign to become the first Republican governor in Maryland history to win re-election.

Barring an upset of election results by the Maryland Court of Appeals, he will be opposed by Dr. H. C. Byrd, who picked up 80 unit votes in the Democratic primary to 72 for George P. Mahoney.

While the Democrats wrestled with their convention and other problems, Republicans methodically went about the business of setting up tomorrow's meeting.

Party leaders worked through the afternoon hammering out a platform to be presented tomorrow. It is expected to be based on the record of the McKeldin administration the past four years, with emphasis on accomplishments in road building, health services, teacher salaries, and penal and parole improvements.

The governor, in addition to conferences in Baltimore on these matters, also worked with aides on the speech with which he will accept the nomination. He will be nominated by Miss Bertha Adkins, Republican national committeewoman for Maryland.

Sen. Butler (R-Md) will give the keynote address and will serve as temporary chairman through the naming of committees on credentials and organizational procedure and on resolutions.

Byrd Demands Prompt Housing Prosecutions

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va) said today that housing investigations have uncovered an "unsavory concoction of malfeasance, greed, collusion and graft," and he demanded that Atty. Gen. Brownell start prosecutions promptly.

The situation, Byrd said in a speech prepared for Senate delivery, "is one of the most scandalous in the history of our government's operations."

Of more than 60 billion dollars in federal subsidies for housing in the last 15 years, in the form of loans, loan insurance, grants and appropriations the senator said, nobody ever will know how much has gone to "profiteers."

"Day by day the exposures continue," he said, "but efforts to prosecute the guilty are not obvious. In view of multimillion dollar windfalls, it is inconceivable that no instances of fraud and graft occurred."

Byrd said it is clear to him that with prope; effort many prosecutions could be started, leading off with Clyde L. Powell, who was fired last April as assistant commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration.

Powell twice has invoked the Fifth Amendment against possible self-incrimination and refused to testify at Senate Banking Committee investigations of the housing situation.

For weeks, the committee has been bringing out testimony that FHA guaranteed numerous loans for apartments at figures far above construction costs, with the builders pocketing the difference, to the extent of millions in what Byrd called windfall profits. Investigators say tenants pay higher tentals as a result.

It is evident, Byrd said, that such windfalls "are likely to have involved collusion."

The committee unfolded more testimony today that guaranteed mortgages exceeded construction costs by some $500,000 for four New Jersey apartments and by $367,000 for three others here in Washington.

Army Officer Found Innocent

FT. DIX, N.J., July 23 (AP)—An eight-man Army court-martial board tonight found Lt. Richard S. Morgan, 28, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., innocent of charges of "dereliction of duty" for allegedly allowing a company of trainees to stand at attention in 92-degree heat for almost an hour.

The eight officers deliberated an hour in making their decision after two days of hearings in which Morgan testified in his own defense.

The young lieutenant, who was wounded in action in Germany in World War II, and was recalled to service in 1951 after officer training in a reserve unit at Lafayette College, had denied that he had any part in the incident which occurred at Ft. Dix June 21.

He was accused of failing in his duty by allowing his administrative assistant, Sgt. 1.C. Richard J. Witbeck, 24, of Wellington, Ohio, to keep the company of 225 trainees at attention in sweltering heat for nearly an hour. Several of the men of Company L, 272nd Infantry Rgt., were reported to have fained during the period.

Department Store Sales Show Jump

RICHMOND, July 23 (AP)—Department store sales in the Baltimore metropolitan area jumped 21 per cent last week, the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond reported today, and the dollar volume of business so far in 1954 is at exactly the same level as in the first 6½ months of 1953.

Department stores in other areas of the Fifth Federal Reserve District, have reported sales volume off between 2 and 5 per cent so far this year, with 2 per cent the district-wide average.

Rising Food Prices Edge Nation's Living Costs Up

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—Rising food prices edged living costs up slightly in June to the highest point since January and close to last October's peak.

The government Bureau of Labor Statistics reported its index rose one tenth of one per cent. This brought the index to 115.1 per cent of the 1947-49 average, compared with 115.0 in May and October's 115.4 record level.

Generally speaking, living costs are holding stable. They are only one half of one percent above a year ago. Statistics Commissioner Ewan Clague said the outlook is for "continued strength" in consumer prices without much change either way.

Clague noted that while prices are higher so is worker income, or purchasing power. Average factory worker earnings increased 94 cents between May and June to $71.68, the largest increase since December, 1952. This was attributed partly to pay raises and partly to some increase in working hours. However, the weekly earnings of average factory workers are 36 cents under last year's postwar peak for the month of June.

Higher prices for fresh fruits and coffee led the June food price advance of four tenths of one per cent. Fresh vegetable prices were down, with such sharp cuts as 28 per cent for tomatoes, 25 per cent for green beans, 24 per cent for lettuce and 13 per cent for cabbage.

But new crop potatoes were 27 per cent higher and celery was up 13 per cent. Meat, egg, and milk prices were down a bit. Apparel costs were lower, as were prices for such items as used cars, auto tires and gasoline.

Rents were unchanged in June—the first month since World War II they have not gone up. Some slight rent increases were reported in large cities and there were some reductions in smaller communities.

Betty Jean Knotts To Be Bride Of Thomas A. McLuckie

Miss Betty Jean Knotts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon R. Knotts, Rawlings, is to become the bride of Thomas Andrew McLuckie, son of Mrs. William Klingbail, Midland, Mich., today.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 3 o'clock in Centre Street Methodist Church, with Rev. Raymond Crowe, pastor of the Cresaptown Rawlings charge, officiating. The church is decorated with standards of white gladioli and candelabra of tall white tapers against a background of palms. White satin bows mark the pews.

Miss Sue Knotts is to be her sister's maid of honor; Miss Ada Lu Snyder, Miss Donna Cochenour and Miss Sandra George, her bridesmaids; and Pamela George her flower girl. William George is serving as Mr. McLuckie's best man and Charles Lattimer, Richard Varner, Midland, Mich., and Robert McLuckie are the ushers.

A program of nuptial music is being played by Mrs. Kenneth Beck, including the traditional wedding march from the opera Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's recessional.

The bride is wearing a full length gown of lace over taffeta, fashioned with a fitted bodice, a portrait neckline, net yoke and long fitted sleeves tapering to a point on the hand and very full skirt ending in a sweeping train. Her fingertip length veil of bridal illusion is held by a scalloped pearl band. Completing her costume she is carrying a cascade bouquet of white orchids, stephanotis and white sweetheart roses.

Her attendants have gowns of pure silk organza over taffeta, made on princess lines, with sweetheart neckline and full waltz length skirt. With them they will wear matching picture hats and mitts and carry cascade bouquets of rueben lilies and summer flowers. The maid of honor's costume is blue and the bridesmaids' pink. The little flower girl's frock is pink silk organza over blue taffeta, made identical to the attendants. She will carry a small cascade bouquet of sweetheart roses and babysbreath and wear a flower hat to match.

Mrs. Knotts chose a rose lace over taffeta street length dress for her daughter's wedding. With it she is wearing a white hat and white accessories and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Klingbail selected a lavender lace over taffeta dress and also has white hat and accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany High School, class of 1952, and is employed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Midland High School, class of 1951, and completed his junior year in June at the University of Maryland. While in high school he was on the varsity football team and track team all four years and his senior year was the Michigan All State Center. This was his third year on the varsity football team at the university.

Mr. and Mrs. Knotts are entertaining with a wedding reception honoring their daughter and her bridal party following the ceremony. It will be held at the Ali Ghan City Club. The bridal motif is being carried out in the centerpiece of white roses and the tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

For their wedding trip to Wildwood, N. J., the bride will wear a black cotton sunback dress with white pique jacket, white accessories and her orchid corsage. Upon their return Mr. McLuckie and his bride will reside at 207 Cole Street, until September, when he returns to College Park.

Deep Creek Yacht Club Regatta To Be August 14, 15

Commodore John W. Stark announces that on August 14-15 the Deep Creek Yacht Club will hold its annual Regatta. The affair consists of three separate sailing events, a cocktail party and dinner-dance on Saturday night. Stewart Brown, of Baltimore, is chairman of the event and has a large committee assisting him.

Again, as last year, one of the sailing events will be the Maryland Snipe Championship, sanctioned by the Snipe Class International Racing Association. The Snipe is a 15 and one-half foot one design sloop of which over 10,000 have been built to nearly exactly the same specifications during the past 23 years. There are 391 active snipe fleets in 22 countries throughout the world. An idea of the continued growth and popularity of the class may be gleaned from the fact that 317 snipes have been built and five new fleets created since March of this year. On the other hand, Snipe No. One, built 23 years ago, is still in active competition, Commodore Stark reports.

Last year a number of snipes were brought to Deep Creek Lake on trailers to sail in the Regatta and one of these, Pursuit, owned by William Rushlow of Columbia Yacht Club, Washington, won the Maryland Snipe Championship for 1953. He will be back again this year as will many other snipes from Washington, Baltimore, and other points. Competing with the visitors will be the snipes which regularly sail on the Lake from the Yacht Club.

Another event will be the Maryland Rebel Championship. The Rebel is a relative new one design class, 17 feet long, built entirely of fiber glass reinforced plastic. There are now four of these boats on Deep Creek Lake and it is expected that others will be brought to the lake on trailers for the Regatta. The use of fiber glass for boat hulls is a new development. Such hulls are virtually indestructible and consequently upkeep and maintenance is kept at a minimum. The Snipe also may now be constructed out of fiber glass as an optional matter, and a new fiber glass Snipe will be brought to the Regatta from Washington, D. C., for the races.

The Rebels and Snipes as well as other classes including Comets, Thistles, Mercuries, and the Cape Cods will compete with each other in another series of races known as the Deep Creek Free-For-All Championship. Last year this event was won by a Snipe, but the Rebels and others are gunning for it again this year and the competition will be keen, the commodore says.

Trophies will be awarded by the Yacht Club in all these events. A new feature will be a Second Division Trophy for the Snipe with the best score which has not won any other Regatta Trophy during 1953 or 1954.

Local and area skippers who have entered boats in these events are John F. Schaidt, Frederick D. Steiding, Henry K. Duke, John E. Stark, Richard C. Kirsch, Dr. Lyman Bonner, Henry Shriver III, of Cumberland; Richard C. Holben, Frostburg; Cyrus Bowers, Hyndman, Pa.; Dr. Charles S. Mahan, Morgantown, W. Va., Robert K. Knipe, Pittsburgh; Stewart Brown, Fred Wagner, Baltimore; William Rushlow, Washington.

Many other boats are expected to be on hand when the starting cannon booms on August 14.

Mr. Reed is president of the Farmers Bank and Savings Company in Pomeroy. He has been prominent in both banking and forestry work in Ohio, and is honorary vice president of the Ohio Forestry Association.

A wedding breakfast is being served the bridal party, immediate families and out of town guests at Anton's Big Savage Inn immediately following the ceremony. For traveling the bride has an Adele Simpson beige crepe dress trimmed with turquoise beads, a turquoise English duvetyn hat and turquoise slippers. Deep Creek Yacht Club Regatta To Be August 14, 15

Commodore John W. Stark announces that on August 14-15 the Deep Creek Yacht Club will hold its annual Regatta. The affair consists of three separate sailing events, a cocktail party and dinner-dance on Saturday night. Stewart Brown, of Baltimore, is chairman of the event and has a large committee assisting him.

Again, as last year, one of the sailing events will be the Maryland Snipe Championship, sanctioned by the Snipe Class International Racing Association. The Snipe is a 15 and one-half foot one design sloop of which over 10,000 have been built to nearly exactly the same specifications during the past 23 years. There are 391 active snipe fleets in 22 countries throughout the world. An idea of the continued growth and popularity of the class may be gleaned from the fact that 317 snipes have been built and five new fleets created since March of this year. On the other hand, Snipe No. One, built 23 years ago, is still in active competition, Commodore Stark reports.

Last year a number of snipes were brought to Deep Creek Lake on trailers to sail in the Regatta and one of these, Pursuit, owned by William Rushlow of Columbia Yacht Club, Washington, won the Maryland Snipe Championship for 1953. He will be back again this year as will many other snipes from Washington, Baltimore, and other points. Competing with the visitors will be the snipes which regularly sail on the Lake from the Yacht Club.

Another event will be the Maryland Rebel Championship. The Rebel is a relative new one design class, 17 feet long, built entirely of fiber glass reinforced plastic. There are now four of these boats on Deep Creek Lake and it is expected that others will be brought to the lake on trailers for the Regatta. The use of fiber glass for boat hulls is a new development. Such hulls are virtually indestructible and consequently upkeep and maintenance is kept at a minimum. The Snipe also may now be constructed out of fiber glass as an optional matter, and a new fiber glass Snipe will be brought to the Regatta from Washington, D. C., for the races.

The Rebels and Snipes as well as other classes including Comets, Thistles, Mercuries, and the Cape Cods will compete with each other in another series of races known as the Deep Creek Free-For-All Championship. Last year this event was won by a Snipe, but the Rebels and others are gunning for it again this year and the competition will be keen, the commodore says.

Trophies will be awarded by the Yacht Club in all these events. A new feature will be a Second Division Trophy for the Snipe with the best score which has not won any other Regatta Trophy during 1953 or 1954.

Local and area skippers who have entered boats in these events are John F. Schaidt, Frederick D. Steiding, Henry K. Duke, John E. Stark, Richard C. Kirsch, Dr. Lyman Bonner, Henry Shriver III, of Cumberland; Richard C. Holben, Frostburg; Cyrus Bowers, Hyndman, Pa.; Dr. Charles S. Mahan, Morgantown, W. Va., Robert K. Knipe, Pittsburgh; Stewart Brown, Fred Wagner, Baltimore; William Pushlow, Washington.

Many other boats are expected to be on hand when the starting cannon booms on August 14.

I SHOT AN ARROW...

In the flight of an arrow this young lady glimpses something of the question mark that is life. She compared herself to the arrow, trembling and plunging toward the earth . . . falling at some distant, unknown point. She thinks of the childhood poem she once learned, "I shot an arrow into the air . . . it fell to earth, I know not where."

Until she discovered the Church, thoughts like these troubled her. But in the Church she found the answer, a secure knowledge that her flight of life will be guided by a higher power to a perfect destination.

Like this girl, everyone has flights of fancy. We dream of, plan for, and have misgivings about the future. That is why we must discover the Church and its teachings, for under its influence, our destiny will become sure, and our future will take on a new meaning.

I SHOT AN ARROW...

In the flight of an arrow this young lady glimpses something of the question mark that is life. She compared herself to the arrow, trembling and plunging toward the earth . . . falling at some distant, unknown point. She thinks of the childhood poem she once learned, "I shot an arrow into the air . . . it fell to earth, I know not where."

Until she discovered the Church, thoughts like these troubled her. But in the Church she found the answer, a secure knowledge that her flight of life will be guided by a higher power to a perfect destination.

Like this girl, everyone has flights of fancy. We dream of, plan for, and have misgivings about the future. That is why we must discover the Church and its teachings, for under its influence, our destiny will become sure, and our future will take on a new meaning.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Trouble Plagues Keyser's North End Residents

City And B&O Men Seek Solution

KEYSER — Residents of the North End of Keyser have been having more than the average troubles, and the Mayor and City Councilmen have been trying for a long time to find a way to give them some relief.

The city improved the water supply by laying new pipe from the business district across to the North End, but there remains the delays caused by the railroad crossing, with little that can be done to eliminate that because of the distance along the tracks, east and west, over which long trains must operate and block the crossing at all hours. Serious difficulties also result in that part of the city, due to sewer lines being too small to carry off the general flow to the Potomac River.

At a special meeting of the mayor, council and officials of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, the sewer problem was discussed by the two groups. The city of Keyser has an 18-inch sewer line in the North End, which has been there for many years. During the intervening years the city has been unable to secure enough money to provide a sewer system there adequate to meet the needs of that section.

Several years ago the B & O placed a 42-inch sewer line from its properties, that tapped the North End sewer line. The result has been troublesome. In the early days of the operation of the B & O sewer, it was drained into a large ditch, which in later years had become known as Ditch Alley. The B & O sewer drained later and through successive years into the city's smaller sewer, carrying the usual flow into the river. During heavy rains however, the smaller sewer is unable to handle the flow. Water backs up creating great inconvenience and trouble for North End citizens.

The Mayor and Council invited the B & O officials to meet jointly with them to discuss remedies for this situation, but the railroad officials told the city officers that they were unable to do anything as the company's legal department had previously ruled that the company is, in no way, liable for the situation.

The railroaders did, however, suggest that if the City of Keyser would close East and Water Street crossings on the main line tracks, they believed the company would buy tile for a larger sewer for the city to accomodate that part of the North End that has been having sewer trouble.

The railroaders said that the open crossings, if closed, would make a savings of $5,000 to the company, and the company could then make the sewer line changes at no loss.

The Mayor and Council took the question into consideration. Water Street crossing is considered dangerous to both pedestrians, vehicular traffic and the company, and would be very costly to the city to properly grade that street over the tracks and to make changes in the streets to accomodate the passage of long trucks to and from the North End. East Street, is also said to be too dangerous for regular vehicular traffic, as it is a blind passage way from either east or west.

Meeting Rural Needs Theme Of WSCS Program

KEYSER—"Meeting Rural News" was the theme of the program at the July meeting of the WSCS at First Methodist Church a recent evening. Each newly-elected secretary of the WSCS departments gave he views on how women of any community can plan some activity for betterment. Speaking on the matter were Mrs. Charles Kiser, Mrs. A. L. Williams, Mrs. Charles Cooper and Mrs. Robert Whitlach. Important points brought out in their explanations, included neighborhood calls, fellowship visiting, conducting prayer with home folks who are unable to attend church services, recreation of all kinds, educational literature and missionary work.

The devotions, conducted by Miss Martha Kiser, included hymn singing and prayer and scripture reading. The program was directed by Mrs. Charles E. Kiser.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. Hazel Martin, during which time Mrs. Copper reported the coming year's supply work planned, and an announcement was made that names and addresses of boys and girls who leave home to attend school this fall are to be supplied to Miss Florence Green, in order to make contacts with them during the school year.

Announcement was also made that the WSCS had voted to pay part expenses to young people attending Camp Galilee, at Terra Alta on August 1. Also, an announcement calling for names of persons and their birthdays are wanted, in order to be placed on the coming year's birthday calendar. They should be turned over to the secretary by September 20.

Christmas card orders are being taken by Mrs. Harold Goff chairman, Group 7. A thank you letter was received from Hon. Harley O. Staggers, 2nd District Congressman, for a letter sent by the WSCS thanking him for his vote against passage of the bill outlawing sale and advertising liquor and beer on radio and TV.

The three delegates of the body who attended the Christian Worker's School at Buckhannon made report on the sessions, and Mrs. Wilson who attended the class, "Under Three Flags," reported on the work and gave a short resume of Bishop Wicke's world trip. It was announced plans were made for him to appear at the church here an deliver a talk on his trip in the fall.

The WSCS set aside November 14 as a day for observing "A Gift For Korea Day," and December 27 and 28 will be the dates this year for the Christian Vocational School at Buckhannon.

Mrs. Hugh Edwards reported on her attendance at the class, "That They Might Have Life," and gave information about the workshop held at the grounds. Mrs. Martin reported on the work of her class, urging more to take part in the work and said that treasure chest boxes will be collected later.

A Portable Army In An Atomic Age

The "new look" which has become a byword in the Defense Department is probably nowhere more graphically displayed than in the plans for the new "portable" army.

Gen. Matthew Ridgway, an ex-paratrooper, and his deputy, Maj. Gen. James Gavin, former commander of the 82nd Airborne Division, envision a fighting force which can be picked up and carried by air anywhere and at any time. They also have in mind revision of the tables of organization under the dictates of atomic warfare. Such an evolution would also include the use of much new equipment, including arms and transport.

The basic fighting unit would no longer be the division. Instead, the Army wants to have available approximately 36 "battle teams" which would be portable and self-sufficient—as regards supply—far beyond anything this country has fielded previously, with the possible exception of airborne units.

Helicopters, flying transports, convertiplanes and flying 'trucks" would thus be necessary in profusion. New modes of communication, thus doing away with vulnerable communications centers, and new methods of supply—which would obviate huge supply dumps —would be necessary under this revolutionary tactical setup.

Obviously, such a transformation could not take place at once. But apparently the Army will experiment with at least one of the new battle teams shortly. It also is apparent that a ground force organized along the proposed lines would be costly. In setting up a series of independent units, whether in the military or in industry, there is certain to be duplication of effort.

But the factor which must be considered above everything else is whether the overall result would be to more effectively meet the needs of the atomic age.

Handwriting On The Wall In Washington

Indecision And Mistakes In Indochina Should Prevent Similar Future Errors

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Back Look At Indochina—The mistakes in handling Indochina are legion. The Republicans inherited some Democratic mistakes, made a lot more themselves. Only reason for looking back it to avoid mistakes in the future.

Here are some of them—Mistake No. 1 was made by Dean Acheson when he did not demand that France give independence to Indochina within the French Union. Acheson was tough with the Dutch in Indonesia, but not with the French. Reason: The U. S. military wanted bases in France and North Africa . . . So with independence unsettled, the Communists had grist for revolution and the fighting continued . . . One year after the Eisenhower administration took office it proposed doing something definite about Indochina . . . Decision, as in most foreign-policy matters, was made, not by Ike, but by his advisers. He remained aloof, though acquiescent . . . It was decided to make an all-out drive to educate the American public on the importance of Indochina and possible war . . . The American public obviously was not ready for war and it became more confused by the "education." There were too many educators and some of their speeches backfired. Dulles called the Geneva Conference "the world's best hope." It ended in disastrous retreat . . . Dulles told the American Legion in St. Louis that China would suffer "grave consequences" if she continued aggression. The Chinese thumbed their noses; the aggression continued . . . Dulles on January 12 talked of "instant retaliation by means and places of our own choosing." We would not get bogged down in little wars . . . But Vice President Nixon on April 16 told the American Society of Newspaper editors that we would send troops to Indochina if necessary—which meant getting bogged down in a little war . . . A few days later, April 21, Nixon told a Des Moines audience: "Our policy is to avoid sending our boys to Indochina or anywhere else to fight." . . . Eisenhower statements added to the confusion. Referring by name to Indochina, Ike told the newspaper editors in April 1953: "Any armistice in Korea that merely released aggressive armies to attack elsewhere would be a fraud." . . . In August he told the governors in Seattle that Indochina was indispensable. "If Indochina goes . . . the last little bit of land hanging on down there would be indefensible. The tin and tungsten that we so greatly value would cease coming. All India would be outflanked. Burma would be in no position for defense." . . . But as the Chinese war got hotter Ike told a February 10 press conference: "No one is more bitterly opposed to getting the United States into a hot war in that region that I am." . . . Meanwhile the chairman of Ike's Joint Chiefs of Staff, Admiral Radford, was definitely talking about hot war, was getting ready to send American airplane carriers to Indochina . . . Later Radford made a definite proposal to congressional leaders to send the Air Force and the Navy into Indochina . . . Simultaneously Dulles asked Congress for a blanket resolution to permit Eisenhower to take any steps necessary in Indochina . . . But the President, asked about these steps, was vague. "There is fighting going on," he said, "and of course everybody would like to see it stopped." But he was merely talking about some solution that would be acceptable to us and would stop this blood-letting . . . So ran his press conference statements . . . Finally, after months of indecision, came this week's Geneva truce which satisfied nobody, except the Communists, least of all was "acceptable to us." . . . So runs the case history of our uncertain diplomacy in Indochina, a policy of "instant retaliation," "liberation," and "the new look."

Roy Will Be Missed

Roy Cohn will probably miss Washington. He will miss its glamor, the privilege of rummaging through anyone's income taxes, the power of subpoenaing anyone in the U. S. A. and hauling them before television cameras. It's a position few people in the nation attain, so he's certain to miss it.

And to some extent Washington will miss him — though not always with regret. The photographers, the TV men, the newsmen will miss the brash, bumptious, brilliant youngster who made news headlines whenever he opened his mouth.

But most of all Joe McCarthy will miss Roy.

TV cameras haven't been focusing on Joe lately. The big show is over, and Joe is deliberately shunning the limelight. Public-relations advisers have told him to stay away from it. But if the TV cameras were still on focus last week, the public would have seen the 27-year-old Roy still influencing almost every move the senator makes.

At a press conference last week, McCarthy was parrying questions. Most he answered on his own. But whenever he faltered, Roy was right beside him.

"How long will you be in Boston, senator?" was one question.

McCarthy hesitated.

In a stage whisper, Cohn prompted: "Don't know."

Quick as a flash McCarthy picked up the cue.

"We have an awful lot of witnesses to hear in Boston and lots of business to take care of," he said. "We just can't tell now how long it will take."

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Plight Of France

A propaganda leaflet, issued to inform Americans about France, concedes the influence of the Communists in that country, who received 5,400,000 votes, or 28 per cent, in the 1946 election; in 1951, it was 4,900,000 votes or 26 per cent. There has been no general election since 1951. Discussing these figures, the pamphlet, issued by "Editions France Actuelle," makes the point:

". . . On the basis of these figures, Americans sometimes tend to conclude that, in case of war with Russia, France could not defend herself effectively since much of her population (and presumably of her army) would side with the Soviet aggressors."

What is not said here is that in modern war, what is prepared and arranged before the war takes place is the real test. Granted that if France is invaded by a Soviet army, every Frenchman will be true to the Tricolor and would give his life for his country, too much is happening now and has happened since the end of World War II for his patriotism to be effective. France has rejected the necessity for full modernization industrially. France has been unwilling to fight adequately for its empire, a huge reservoir of manpower that has been useful in the last two wars. The defensive action in Indochina was largely the task of the Foreign Legion in which there are no Frenchmen but plenty of Germans.

It is not the character of the French people nor their loyalty that is brought into question in the current discussions. It is the fact that the Communists have gained so much power in France.

It was France that initiated the idea for a European Defense Community. M. Pleven, when he was premier, developed what came to be known as the Pleven Plan out of which grew EDC. The essence of EDC is the creation of a European army, that is a European force, sufficiently large to hold the Russians at the river Elbe. A treaty was signed in Paris (1952) by France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg confirming the establishment of such an army. But France has never ratified this treaty and therefore it is not operative.

France now objects to certain organizational arrangements in this treaty, which, however, France negotiated and signed.

One reason given for France's attitude is:

". . . Three times in the past 75 years France has been over-run by the German army. Her lands have been occupied; 2,200,000 of her sons have been killed. These events have left a heritage of suspicion and fear. Many Frenchmen who fought valiantly against the Germans find it hard to think of a European army in which they or their sons might take orders from German officers."

Of course, much has happened since France was invaded by Germany. For one thing, Germany is a divided country, the eastern half being controlled by Soviet Russia; secondly, unless a nation is communistically inclined, it must accept the thesis that Soviet Russia and not Germany is the enemy of Western civilization. Thirdly, the realistic question today is not whether Germany will ever gain enough strength to invade France but whether, if war should come, any force will be sufficiently powerful in Europe to withstand Russia.

Obviously, neither Germany nor France alone can create the divisions or the industrial establishment to withstand Russia's present army, but EDC, supported by the United States and Great Britain, can develop enormous strength. That is why EDC is a keystone of American policy and it must be said that the following sentence in the French propaganda does not make much sense at the present time:

". . . Some Frenchmen fear that a rearmed Germany might be tempted to re-gain her eastern territories by force and that, through the European army, France might find herself an unwilling partner in such an adventure."

Even if Germany did seek to regain her eastern territories, as rightly Germany should, it would be like banging one's head against a stone wall unless Germany regained these territories as part of a general war. Alone, West Germany could no more regain East Germany than Chiang Kai-shek can take Shanghai.

The truth of the matter is that France is holding out because the Communist strength in France remains strong enough to impede, if not prevent, the ratification of the EDC treaty. Were it otherwise, in view of France's interest, the treaty would have been ratified.

Congress Showing Cleavages Of Ideological Nature

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Although not outwardly identifiable as clearly as the socialistic groups that have broken up European parliaments, the Congress of the United States in the session now at its climax is also revealing deep-seated cleavages of an ideological nature.

On the surface, the controversy over whether to tax corporations twice—once when the profits are confiscated at a rate of 52 per cent and once when the stockholder gets his dividend and pays a second tax —is supposed to be a contest "between rich and poor." That's what the demagogues would have the public believe, but actuually it is a contest between those who would confiscate the savings of the workingman and those who would stimulate thrift and give private capitalism a much needed stimulus.

For, unless investors have incentives for employing their funds as risk capital in American enterprises, the government—the state—must provide the capital. That's the road to state socialism and Hitlerism. Yet the "left wing," which professes such an abhorrence of everything Hitlerlike, is behind the drive to prevent the encouragement of private investors.

More Debt Encouraged

The investor who buys bonds pays an income tax on the interest he receives, but he can invest in tax-exempt municipal or state bonds. As for corporate bonds, companies get a deduction for the interest they pay out. In this way the creation of more and more debt has been encouraged, whereas the use of risk capital has been discouraged because the corporations get no deduction for dividend payments—the sums they pay out for the use of capital.

America has been built up by risk capital. The investor in the early years of this country's development took a chance on the success or failure of an enterprise and, if it was successful, he got a reward commensurate with his risk.

But in recent years risk capital has been increasingly hard to find for the use of American business. For new enterprises, it has been even harder to get. Most new enterprises have been launched by already existing large companies with fat treasuries—an encouragement to monopoly and a discouragement to competition by smaller companies with inadequate capital.

Double Taxation Recognized

In contrast to the socialistic trend under the New Deal and the Fair Deal, the Eisenhower administration set out to recognize in the new tax law the basic idea that a dividend payment should have some tax relief for the investor. While the amount is relatively small, the new bill just out of conference does recognize the principle of opposition to double taxation. It will give a life to American enterprise and mean more jobs for the workers in existing businesses and more businesses that will create new jobs. Yet there are many Democrats and a few Republicans who take a demagogic view and would stifle the incentives that help private enterprise.

The same ideological prejudice has arisen on the issue of public versus private power. About 30 years ago the American people were told that rivers should be opened to navigation and that whatever by-products in electric power became available would be incidental. Warnings against this deception went unheeded, and now the Tennessee Valley Authority has become a major public-power development. Many taxpayers in the North and West and East are taxed heavily to pay for a local power development that serves only one region. If this principle were applied fairly to other sections of the country where rivers could be used to generate power, it would put the government in the power business on a national scale.

Ike Against Socialism

The debate in the Senate this week about atomic power involves the same basic question. If atomic energy is to be solely a government development, then the state will control many business enterprises directly or indirectly. Instead of leasing the facilities to the highest bidders and letting private capital do the job—and supply the government with taxes out of its profits—there are some Republicans and many Democrats who believe in the government-ownership doctrine. They would deny that they want the government to own everything. But there isn't much difference between putting the government in the power business and putting it into the food-store business or in the management of department stores and other retail enterprises. Then almost everybody would be employed by the government, as in Soviet Russia.

At a time when the budget is strained and taxes are high, there are some members of Congress who want the government to make large outlays for power plants of all kinds. The Eisenhower administration's view is that private business—which pays taxes on its profits—should have the opportunity to do that work and that the state should get out of private business and stay out. It would be an interesting issue for the campaign, for, if they fully understood, the American people would promptly reject the doctrines of state socialism which so often have led to paths of communism and an all-powerful state.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

In the beautiful world to be there will be hand-rails on rainbows, zippers on strait-jackets and non-skid treads on bicycle seats.

It possibly means the end of colonization as we know it now. The Veet-Veets and the Mau-Maus have busted looser than milk teeth.

About 20 years ago we wrote about a little fellow who started it all, "Like Mahatma Gandhi getting dressed for dinner we are doing the best we can with the materials at hand."

It was the Mahatma trick that got India equality. He went to London wearing a laundry bag and riding fence on his one-goat ranch.

It was the start of the crack-up of colonialism. The camel with his nose under the tent is runner-up to the goat anywhere upwind.

The beating the French took in Indochina looks like a rug over the washline was their national flag.

There are some international whizzards who figure the French threw the U. N. on the spears. When they got run out of the Red River delta the Parisian Commies came close to racking up a victory parade on the champs.

All this time we've been pouring moola into the 'ench effort. And while we're chafing at the dish they are packing it in.

France is against NATO because it doesn't want another wave of hobnailed down from an army of goose-steppers. It's still picking the 1939 feathers out of the Maginot Line.

With France out of Indochina and England out of India we will probably leave Kiang-shek in Formosa as lonely as a borrowed pup.

The U. N. has lost more ground than a clam-digger at high tide.

The way it look from the nickel seats it was the Mahatma who opened the ball. He did it with a stroll to the ocean to get a pail of water to make salt.

Another Indoor Sport

By Brother Barnabas

Crossword puzzles are not the exciting interest in these parts since the expressway proposal of the State Roads Commission is up for decision.

The popular indoor sport now is talking and getting estimates so we may know what to do about opening up Baltimore Street so traffic can get through the same day.

Various proposals are made. Some have suggested helicopters as a means of overhead transportation, but the idea seems hare brained. They might get you where you want to go, but would leave you no money to spend after you got there.

It is said that the ancient Goths used to discuss their plans, first, when they were drunk that they might not lack boldness, and again, when they were sober, that their boldness might be tempered by prudence.

It is our hope that when the die is cast on August 9, voting whether or not to accept the SRC proposal, our city fathers will have both boldness and prudence, but without the Gothic formula.

Least Certain, Most Vociferous

Anyone can have an opinion on any subject. Often the less he knows the more opinionated he is. The least certain are often most vociferous.

This scribe is not argufying pro or con. As he sees it, the helicopter is impractical, the covered bridge is a curiosity. The crosstown bridge as proposed seems a safe prescription for what ails our community in the business sector.

The dissidents are fearful we are buying a white elephant. We don't need such a bridge, anyhow. Look't Moses! He didn't need a bridge crossing the Red Sea. Caesar swam the Rubicon. Washington crossed the Delaware on blocks of ice. Gertrude Ederle "bridged" the English Channel without a bridge. So what!

Some readers know about the "bridge over dry land" built to span the Missouri River and link the Nebraska community of Decatur with Onawa across the river in Iowa.

The need for a bridge had been apparent for many years. With it travel between the two communities would have been a matter of six or eight miles instead of the 80 to 100 miles traffic would have to traverse going north to Sioux City and crossing at another point.

But the unpredictable Missouri changed its channel and left the pretentious bridge high and dry, and the bondholders with the bag to hold.

Winston Churchill visited Niagara Falls after 20 years and was asked if he noted any change. He replied that "in principle" it was the same.

It was the same indisposition of the water to hang over the precipice that caused the Falls. And so far as the oldest inhabitant can observe "The Narrows" have been here a long time and will likely remain, barring some geodetic upheaval which will carry the mountains into the sea, in which case we will have something else to worry about.

State Handling Heavy End

Recalling that "new occasions teach new duties, and time makes ancient forms uncouth," our Queen City is due to come out of the moth balls, put on her beautiful garments and get ready for company. Our banks, our chamber of commerce, our civic clubs and Mayor and Council are flirting with new industries, fostering every possible civic attraction. Tremendous strides have already been made and others are in prospect.

Half our national working force is engaged in the production and sales of things unheard of in 1902. Should this trend continue, half our working population in 1978 will be making and selling things as yet unknown. Get ready for manufacturing and transporting them now.

If money is a necessity how shall we bridge over the chasm that separates us from it? The state is making it easy for us by assuming the heavy end of the load; the balance may be derived by painless extraction. It is a maxim "never to look a gift horse in the mouth." If we fail to accept the gift of the state it will be a horse on us.

Three travelers met and compared notes boastfully about their respective communities. The man from California told about sitting all day under an orange tree drinking the ambrosia of the gods.

How do you grow such wonderful fruit? queried one. The boaster answered in a word—"Climate!"

Used For Cradles

The second said, "I come from Colorado where we grow the Rocky Ford melons. They are so large they can't be eaten at one meal but are set back for succeeding meals. When they are finally hollowed out the shells are used for cradles. That's the way they get their name—'Rocky' Ford."

The third, not to be outdone, said "I am from New York City. We have many skyscrapers. The Woolworth Building shoots up 58 stories into the air and it seems like some work of men's hands.
wild dream rather than the actual
"They ran elevators as far as they could and then went up seven stories higher."

"How did they ever get so high?" exclaimed the other in admiration. The New Yorker replied cryptically, 'Climb-it!' "

"Truly, I say to you, if you have faith as a grain of mustard seed, you will say to this mountain, 'Move hence to yonder place,' and it will move; and nothing will be impossible to you." (Matthew 17:21).

Speculatively yours,
BROTHER BARNABAS

Bikes, Motor Scooters Hazardous On Busy Streets

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

My son wanted to buy a second-hand motor scooter but I refused to give him the money because I felt he was too young and besides, we lived in a busy part of the city and these vehicles offer little or no protection in case of accident. The youngster argued but I held my ground. One of his schoolmates bought the scooter and two or three weeks later, encountered a fatal accident. This tragedy made an everlasting impression on my boy.

Bicycle riding also is not safe on streets and highways cluttered with autos and trucks. Approximately 600 lives are lost each year in mishaps along this line, more than 70 per cent of which are among boys 5 to 19 years old. Most collisions are with motor vehicles.

Everyone who rides a bike should be acquainted with the dangers as well as the pleasures associated with this form of exercise. What factors make bicycling hazardous? In some instances, the boy or girl is not in full control of the bike because it is operated with one hand or because an extra passenger is carried. Others neglect to observe traffic regulations or fail to use hand signals when stopping or turning. Riding on the wrong side of the road is a factor as well as zigzagging in traffic or indulging in stunt riding.

Motorists should be given the right of way because a bike is no match for an auto; the cyclist is exposed to injury on all sides. Accidents also occur because the bicycle rider fails to slow down in business sections or neglects to look before crossing a street or on coming out of an alley or driveway. Falls account for other mishaps. Some who are riding along a river bank drown when they fall from the bike; others run into trees, bridges, curbs, or street cars. Pedestrians do not escape fatalities from this cause; approximately two per cent of the total deaths in this group are among people who are run into by cyclists.

Other safety measures for the bicyclist include making certain that the brakes are in good condition and that the machine is properly equipped for night riding. All repairs should be made off the highway and hitching rides on cars or trucks is strictly verboten.

Most car and truck drivers are aware of the bicycle hazard and are on the alert to prevent collisions. The speeder or drunken driver, however, is not likely to be so watchful hence it is up to parents and school authorities to make children realize the responsibilities associated with owning and riding a bike. That this is a major safety problem is reflected in the fact that in the United States alone, the number of cyclists has risen to 21 million.

SET INTO SOCKET

G. W. writes: What is a ball and socket joint?

REPLY

This type of joint consists of a globular, or spherical head that fits into a cuplike cavity. The hip and shoulder joints are the best examples and both are capable of a wide range of movement.

OUT OF BED

S. L. writes: What is meant by ambulatory treatment?

REPLY

The individual is up and about in contrast to treatment requiring bed rest or hospitalization.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Eve Arden played in summer stock last year opposite a leading man who fancied himself a wit. In the middle of one of her biggest scenes before a crowded house one evening the telephone on stage rang loudly. Nothing like this was called for in the script. As Miss Arden picked up the receiver, she detected a smirk on the face of her fellow thespian, and suddenly everything was clear to her. "Hello," she cooed into the phone. "Yes, he's right here." Then she handed him the receiver and said, "It's for you dear. Long distance from Moscow." Under her breath she added, "Get out of that one, Toots!"

A hopeful young dramatist who had persuaded the distinguished George Jean Nathan to read his new comedy was immensely buoyed by the critic's report. "I chuckled over every page," Mr. Nathan assured him. "Wonderful!" exulted the dramatist. "What made you laugh most?" Mr. Nathan admitted, "The spelling."

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

By a unanimous vote of 381 to 0 the House has voted against admission of Red China into the United Nations. That should be a "No!" big enough for any Commie to read all the way from Peiping and/or Moscow!

Square pie pans are now on the market. If a pie is sliced in quarters, from which of the four points do we start eating?

Soviet scientists claim they can grow spinach with six times the normal iron content. For eating, or as patches for the iron curtain?

It also is apparent that a ground force organized along the proposed lines would be costly. In setting up a series of independent units, whether in the military or in industry, there is certain to be duplication of effort.

But the factor which must be considered above everything else is whether the overall result would be to more effectively meet the needs of the atomic age.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Plight Of France

A propaganda leaflet, issued to inform Americans about France, concedes the influence of the Communists in that country, who received 5,400,000 votes, or 28 per cent, in the 1946 election; in 1951, it was 4,900,000 votes or 26 per cent. There has been no general election since 1951. Discussing these figures, the pamphlet, issued by "Editions France Actuelle," makes the point:

". . . On the basis of these figures, Americans sometimes tend to conclude that, in case of war with Russia, France could not defend herself effectively since much of her population (and presumably of her army) would side with the Soviet aggressors."

What is not said here is that in modern war, what is prepared and arranged before the war takes place is the real test. Granted that if France is invaded by a Soviet army, every Frenchman will be true to the Tricolor and would give his life for his country, too much is happening now and has happened since the end of World War II for his patriotism to be effective. France has rejected the necessity for full modernization industrially. France has been unwilling to fight adequately for its empire, a huge reservoir of manpower that has been useful in the last two wars. The defensive action in Indochina was largely the task of the Foreign Legion in which there are no Frenchmen but plenty of Germans.

It is not the character of the French people nor their loyalty that is brought into question in the current discussions. It is the fact that the Communists have gained so much power in France.

It was France that initiated the idea for a European Defense Community. M. Pleven, when he was premier, developed what came to be known as the Pleven Plan out of which grew EDC. The essence of EDC is the creation of a European army, that is a European force, sufficiently large to hold the Russians at the river Elbe. A treaty was signed in Paris (1952) by France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg confirming the establishment of such an army. But France has never ratified this treaty and therefore it is not operative.

France now objects to certain organizational arrangements in this treaty, which, however, France negotiated and signed.

One reason given for France's attitude is:

". . . Three times in the past 75 years France has been over-run by the German army. Her lands have been occupied; 2,200,000 of her sons have been killed. These events have left a heritage of suspicion and fear. Many Frenchmen who fought valiantly against the Germans find it hard to think of a European army in which they or their sons might take orders from German officers."

Of course, much has happened since France was invaded by Germany. For one thing, Germany is a divided country, the eastern half being controlled by Soviet Russia; secondly, unless a nation is communistically inclined, it must accept the thesis that Soviet Russia and not Germany is the enemy of Western civilization. Thirdly, the realistic question today is not whether Germany will ever gain enough strength to invade France but whether, if war should come, any force will be sufficiently powerful in Europe to withstand Russia.

Obviously, neither Germany nor France alone can create the divisions or the industrial establishment to withstand Russia's present army, but EDC, supported by the United States and Great Britain, can develop enormous strength. That is why EDC is a keystone of American policy and it must be said that the following sentence in the French propaganda does not make much sense at the present time:

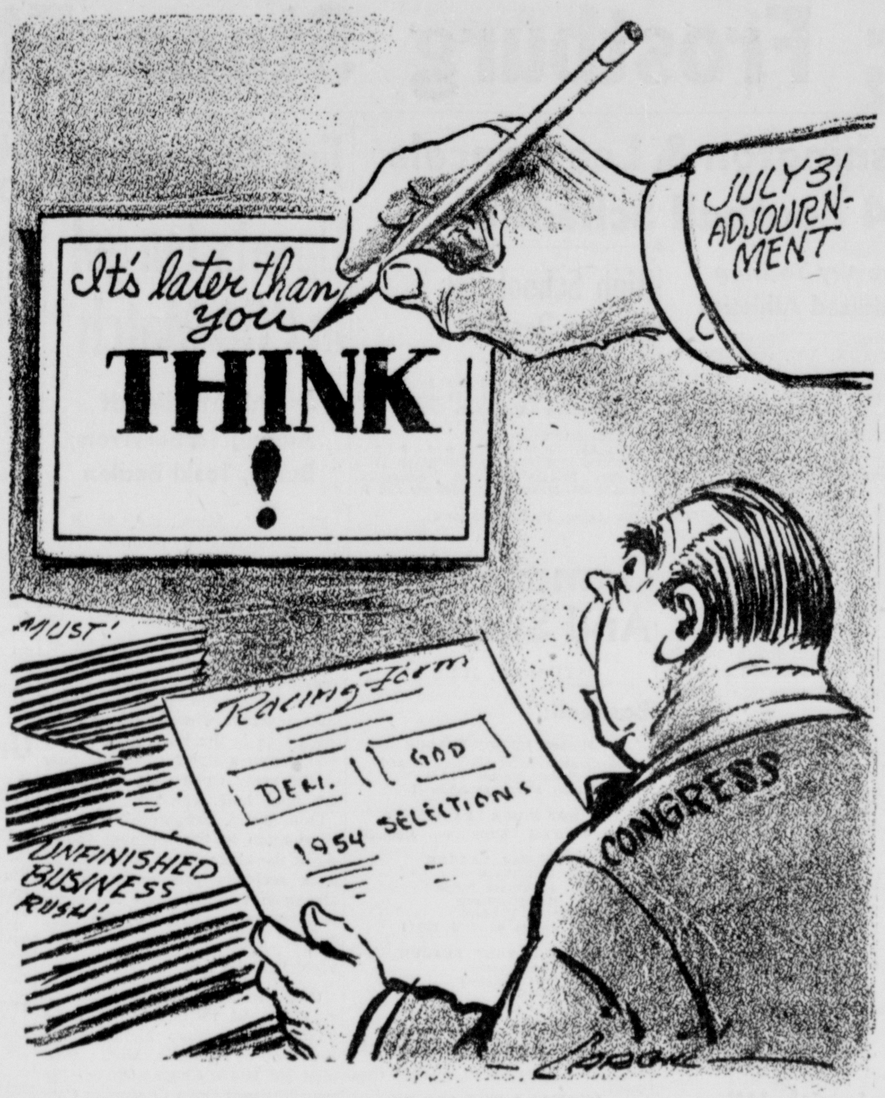

". . . Some Frenchmen fear that a rearmed Germany might be tempted to re-gain her eastern territories by force and that, through the European army, France might find herself an unwilling partner in such an adventure."

Even if Germany did seek to regain her eastern territories, as rightly Germany should, it would be like banging one's head against a stone wall unless Germany regained these territories as part of a general war. Alone, West Germany could no more regain East Germany than Chiang Kai-shek can take Shanghai.

The truth of the matter is that France is holding out because the Communist strength in France remains strong enough to impede, if not prevent, the ratification of the EDC treaty. Were it otherwise, in view of France's interest, the treaty would have been ratified.

Handwriting On The Wall In Washington

Congress Showing Cleavages Of Ideological Nature

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Although not outwardly identifiable as clearly as the socialistic groups that have broken up European parliaments, the Congress of the United States in the session now at its climax is also revealing deep-seated cleavages of an ideological nature.

On the surface, the controversy over whether to tax corporations twice—once when the profits are confiscated at a rate of 52 per cent and once when the stockholder gets his dividend and pays a second tax —is supposed to be a contest "between rich and poor." That's what the demagogues would have the public believe, but actuually it is a contest between those who would confiscate the savings of the workingman and those who would stimulate thrift and give private capitalism a much needed stimulus.

For, unless investors have incentives for employing their funds as risk capital in American enterprises, the government—the state—must provide the capital. That's the road to state socialism and Hitlerism. Yet the "left wing," which professes such an abhorrence of everything Hitlerlike, is behind the drive to prevent the encouragement of private investors.

More Debt Encouraged

The investor who buys bonds pays an income tax on the interest he receives, but he can invest in tax-exempt municipal or state bonds. As for corporate bonds, companies get a deduction for the interest they pay out. In this way the creation of more and more debt has been encouraged, whereas the use of risk capital has been discouraged because the corporations get no deduction for dividend payments—the sums they pay out for the use of capital.

America has been built up by risk capital. The investor in the early years of this country's development took a chance on the success or failure of an enterprise and, if it was successful, he got a reward commensurate with his risk.

But in recent years risk capital has been increasingly hard to find for the use of American business. For new enterprises, it has been even harder to get. Most new enterprises have been launched by already existing large companies with fat treasuries—an encouragement to monopoly and a discouragement to competition by smaller companies with inadequate capital.

Double Taxation Recognized

In contrast to the socialistic trend under the New Deal and the Fair Deal, the Eisenhower administration set out to recognize in the new tax law the basic idea that a dividend payment should have some tax relief for the investor. While the amount is relatively small, the new bill just out of conference does recognize the principle of opposition to double taxation. It will give a life to American enterprise and mean more jobs for the workers in existing businesses and more businesses that will create new jobs. Yet there are many Democrats and a few Republicans who take a demagogic view and would stifle the incentives that help private enterprise.

The same ideological prejudice has arisen on the issue of public versus private power. About 30 years ago the American people were told that rivers should be opened to navigation and that whatever by-products in electric power became available would be incidental. Warnings against this deception went unheeded, and now the Tennessee Valley Authority has become a major public-power development. Many taxpayers in the North and West and East are taxed heavily to pay for a local power development that serves only one region. If this principle were applied fairly to other sections of the country where rivers could be used to generate power, it would put the government in the power business on a national scale.

Ike Against Socialism

The debate in the Senate this week about atomic power involves the same basic question. If atomic energy is to be solely a government development, then the state will control many business enterprises directly or indirectly. Instead of leasing the facilities to the highest bidders and letting private capital do the job—and supply the government with taxes out of its profits—there are some Republicans and many Democrats who believe in the government-ownership doctrine. They would deny that they want the government to own everything. But there isn't much difference between putting the government in the power business and putting it into the food-store business or in the management of department stores and other retail enterprises. Then almost everybody would be employed by the government, as in Soviet Russia.

At a time when the budget is strained and taxes are high, there are some members of Congress who want the government to make large outlays for power plants of all kinds. The Eisenhower administration's view is, that private business—which pays taxes on its profits—should have the opportunity to do that work and that the state should get out of private business and stay out. It would be an interesting issue for the campaign, for, if they fully understood, the American people would promptly reject the doctrines of state socialism which so often have led to paths of communism and an all-powerful state.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

In the beautiful world to be there will be hand-rails on rainbows, zippers on strait-jackets and non-skid treads on bicycle seats.

It possibly means the end of colonization as we know it now. The Veet-Veets and the Mau-Maus have busted looser than milk teeth.

About 20 years ago we wrote about a little fellow who started it all, "Like Mahatma Gandhi getting dressed for dinner we are doing the best we can with the materials at hand."

It was the Mahatma trick that got India equality. He went to London wearing a laundry bag and riding fence on his one-goat ranch.

It was the start of the crack-up of colonialism. The camel with his nose under the tent is runner-up to the goat anywhere upwind.

The beating the French took in Indochina looks like a rug over the washline was their national flag.

There are some international whizzards who figure the French threw the U. N. on the spears. When they got run out of the Red River delta the Parisian Commies came close to racking up a victory parade on the champs.

All this time we've been pouring moola into the trench effort. And while we're chafing at the dish they are packing it in.

France is against NATO because it doesn't want another wave of hobnailed down from an army of goose-steppers. It's still picking the 1939 feathers out of the Maginot Line.

With France out of Indochina and England out of India we will probably leave Kiang-shek in Formosa as lonely as a borrowed pup.

The U. N. has lost more ground than a clam-digger at high tide.

The way it look from the nickel seats it was the Mahatma who opened the ball. He did it with a stroll to the ocean to get a pail of water to make salt.

Bikes, Motor Scooters Hazardous On Busy Streets

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

My son wanted to buy a second-hand motor scooter but I refused to give him the money because I felt he was too young and besides, we lived in a busy part of the city and these vehicles offer little or no protection in case of accident. The youngster argued but I held my ground. One of his schoolmates bought the scooter and two or three weeks later, encountered a fatal accident. This tragedy made an everlasting impression on my boy.

Bicycle riding also is not safe on streets and highways cluttered with autos and trucks. Approximately 600 lives are lost each year in mishaps along this line, more than 70 per cent of which are among boys 5 to 19 years old. Most collisions are with motor vehicles.

Everyone who rides a bike should be acquainted with the dangers as well as the pleasures associated with this form of exercise. What factors make bicycling hazardous? In some instances, the boy or girl is not in full control of the bike because it is operated with one hand or because an extra passenger is carried. Others neglect to observe traffic regulations or fail to use hand signals when stopping or turning. Riding on the wrong side of the road is a factor as well as zigzagging in traffic or indulging in stunt riding.

Motorists should be given the right of way because a bike is no match for an auto; the cyclist is exposed to injury on all sides. Accidents also occur because the bicycle rider fails to slow down in business sections or neglects to look before crossing a street or on coming out of an alley or driveway. Falls account for other mishaps. Some who are riding along a river bank drown when they fall from the bike; others run into trees, bridges, curbs, or street cars. Pedestrians do not escape fatalities from this cause; approximately two per cent of the total deaths in this group are among people who are run into by cyclists.

Other safety measures for the bicyclist include making certain that the brakes are in good condition and that the machine is properly equipped for night riding. All repairs should be made off the highway and hitching rides on cars or trucks is strictly verboten.

Most car and truck drivers are aware of the bicycle hazard and are on the alert to prevent collisions. The speeder or drunken driver, however, is not likely to be so watchful hence it is up to parents and school authorities to make children realize the responsibilities associated with owning and riding a bike. That this is a major safety problem is reflected in the fact that in the United States alone, the number of cyclists has risen to 21 million.

SET INTO SOCKET

G. W. writes: What is a ball and socket joint?

REPLY

This type of joint consists of a globular, or spherical head that fits into a cuplike cavity. The hip and shoulder joints are the best examples and both are capable of a wide range of movement.

OUT OF BED

S. L. writes: What is meant by ambulatory treatment?

REPLY

The individual is up and about in contrast to treatment requiring bed rest or hospitalization.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Eve Arden played in summer stock last year opposite a leading man who fancied himself a wit. In the middle of one of her biggest scenes before a crowded house one evening the telephone on stage rang loudly. Nothing like this was called for in the script. As Miss Arden picked up the receiver, she detected a smirk on the face of her fellow thespian, and suddenly everything was clear to her. "Hello," she cooed into the phone. "Yes, he's right here." Then she handed him the receiver and said, "It's for you dear. Long distance from Moscow." Under her breath she added,"Get out of that one, Toots!"

A hopeful young dramatist who had persuaded the distinguished George Jean Nathan to read his new comedy was immensely buoyed by the critic's report. "I chuckled over every page," Mr. Nathan assured him. "Wonderful!" exulted the dramatist. "What made you laugh most?" Mr. Nathan admitted, "The spelling."

Indecision And Mistakes In Indochina Should Prevent Similar Future Errors

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Back Look At Indochina—The mistakes in handling Indochina are legion. The Republicans inherited some Democratic mistakes, made a lot more themselves. Only reason for looking back it to avoid mistakes in the future.

Here are some of them—Mistake No. 1 was made by Dean Acheson when he did not demand that France give independence to Indochina within the French Union. Acheson was tough with the Dutch in Indonesia, but not with the French. Reason: The U. S. military wanted bases in France and North Africa . . . So with independence unsettled, the Communists had grist for revolution and the fighting continued . . . One year after the Eisenhower administration took office it proposed doing something definite about Indochina . . . Decision, as in most foreign-policy matters, was made, not by Ike, but by his advisers. He remained aloof, though acquiescent . . . It was decided to make an all-out drive to educate the American public on the importance of Indochina and possible war . . . The American public obviously was not ready for war and it became more confused by the "education." There were too many educators and some of their speeches backfired. Dulles called the Geneva Conference "the world's best hope." It ended in disastrous retreat . . . Dulles told the American Legion in St. Louis that China would suffer "grave consequences" if she continued aggression. The Chinese thumbed their noses; the aggression continued . . . Dulles on January 12 talked of "instant retaliation by means and places of our own choosing." We would not get bogged down in little wars . . . But Vice President Nixon on April 16 told the American Society of Newspaper editors that we would send troops to Indochina if necessary—which meant getting bogged down in a little war . . . A few days later, April 21, Nixon told a Des Moines audience: "Our policy is to avoid sending our boys to Indochina or anywhere else to fight." . . . Eisenhower statements added to the confusion. Referring by name to Indochina, Ike told the newspaper editors in April 1953: "Any armistice in Korea that merely released aggressive armies to attack elsewhere would be a fraud." . . . In August he told the governors in Seattle that Indochina was indispensable. "If Indochina goes . . . the last little bit of land hanging on down there would be indefensible. The tin and tungsten that we so greatly value would cease coming. All India would be outflanked. Burma would be in no position for defense." . . . But as the Chinese war got hotter Ike told a February 10 press conference: "No one is more bitterly opposed to getting the United States into a hot war in that region that I am." . . . Meanwhile the chairman of Ike's Joint Chiefs of Staff, Admiral Radford, was definitely talking about hot war, was getting ready to send American airplane carriers to Indochina . . . Later Radford made a definite proposal to congressional leaders to send the Air Force and the Navy into Indochina . . . Simultaneously Dulles asked Congress for a blanket resolution to permit Eisenhower to take any steps necessary in Indochina . . . But the President, asked about these steps, was vague. "There is fighting going on," he said, "and of course everybody would like to see it stopped." But he was merely talking about some solution that would be acceptable to us and would stop this blood-letting . . . So ran his press conference statements . . . Finally, after months of indecision, came this week's Geneva truce which satisfied nobody, except the Communists, least of all was "acceptable to us." . . . So runs the case history of our uncertain diplomacy in Indochina, a policy of "instant retaliation," "liberation," and "the new look."

Roy Will Be Missed

Roy Cohn will probably miss Washington. He will miss its glamor, the privilege of rummaging through anyone's income taxes, the power of subpoenaing anyone in the U. S. A. and hauling them before television cameras. It's a position few people in the nation attain, so he's certain to miss it.

And to some extent Washington will miss him — though not always with regret. The photographers, the TV men, the newsmen will miss the brash, bumptious, brilliant youngster who made news headlines whenever he opened his mouth.

But most of all Joe McCarthy will miss Roy.

TV cameras haven't been focusing on Joe lately. The big show is over, and Joe is deliberately shunning the limelight. Public-relations advisers have told him to stay away from it. But if the TV cameras were still on focus last week, the public would have seen the 27-year-old Roy still influencing almost every move the senator makes.

At a press conference last week, McCarthy was parrying questions. Most he answered on his own. But whenever he faltered, Roy was right beside him.

"How long will you be in Boston, senator?" was one question.

McCarthy hesitated.

In a stage whisper, Cohn prompted: "Don't know."

Quick as a flash McCarthy picked up the cue.

"We have an awful lot of witnesses to hear in Boston and lots of business to take care of," he said. "We just can't tell now how long it will take."

Another Indoor Sport

By Brother Barnabas

Crossword puzzles are not the exciting interest in these parts since the expressway proposal of the State Roads Commission is up for decision.

The popular indoor sport now is talking and getting estimates so we may know what to do about opening up Baltimore Street so traffic can get through the same day.

Various proposals are made. Some have suggested helicopters as a means of overhead transportation, but the idea seems hare brained. They might get you where you want to go, but would leave you no money to spend after you got there.

It is said that the ancient Goths used to discuss their plans, first, when they were drunk that they might not lack boldness, and again, when they were sober, that their boldness might be tempered by prudence.

It is our hope that when the die is cast on August 9, voting whether or not to accept the SRC proposal, our city fathers will have both boldness and prudence, but without the Gothic formula.

Least Certain, Most Vociferous

Anyone can have an opinion on any subject. Often the less he knows the more opinionated he is. The least certain are often most vociferous.

This scribe is not argufying pro or con. As he sees it, the helicopter is impractical, the covered bridge is a curiosity. The crosstown bridge as proposed seems a safe prescription for what ails our community in the business sector.

The dissidents are fearful we are buying a white elephant. We don't need such a bridge, anyhow. Look't Moses! He didn't need a bridge crossing the Red Sea. Caesar swam the Rubicon. Washington crossed the Delaware on blocks of ice. Gertrude Ederle "bridged" the English Channel without a bridge. So what!

Some readers know about the "bridge over dry land" built to span the Missouri River and link the Nebraska community of Decatur with Onawa across the river in Iowa.

The need for a bridge had been apparent for many years. With it travel between the two communities would have been a matter of six or eight miles instead of the 80 to 100 miles traffic would have to traverse going north to Sioux City and crossing at another point.

But the unpredictable Missouri changed its channel and left the pretentious bridge high and dry, and the bondholders with the bag to hold.

Winston Churchill visited Niagara Falls after 20 years and was asked if he noted any change. He replied that "in principle" it was the same.

It was the same indisposition of the water to hang over the precipice that caused the Falls. And so far as the oldest inhabitant can observe "The Narrows" have been here a long time and will likely remain, barring some geodetic upheaval which will carry the mountains into the sea, in which case we will have something else to worry about.

State Handling Heavy End

Recalling that "new occasions teach new duties, and time makes ancient forms uncouth," our Queen City is due to come out of the moth balls, put on her beautiful garments and get ready for company. Our banks, our chamber of commerce, our civic clubs and Mayor and Council are flirting with new industries, fostering every possible civic attraction. Tremendous strides have already been made and others are in prospect.

Half our national working force is engaged in the production and sales of things unheard of in 1902. Should this trend continue, half our working population in 1978 will be making and selling things as yet unknown. Get ready for manufacturing and transporting them now.

If money is a necessity how shall we bridge over the chasm that separates us from it? The state is making it easy for us by assuming the heavy end of the load; the balance may be derived by painless extraction. It is a maxim "never to look a gift horse in the mouth." If we fail to accept the gift of the state it will be a horse on us.

Three travelers met and compared notes boastfully about their respective communities. The man from California told about sitting all day under an orange tree drinking the ambrosia of the gods.

How do you grow such wonderful fruit? queried one. The boaster answered in a word—"Climate!"

Used For Cradles

The second said, "I come from Colorado where we grow the Rocky Ford melons. They are so large they can't be eaten at one meal but are set back for succeeding meals. When they are finally hollowed out the shells are used for cradles. That's the way they get their name—'Rocky' Ford."

The third, not to be outdone, said "I am from New York City. We have many skyscrapers. The Woolworth Building shoots up 58 stories into the air and it seems like some work of men's hands.

wild dream rather than the actual

"They ran elevators as far as they could and then went up seven stories higher."

"How did they ever get so high?" exclaimed the other in admiration. The New Yorker replied cryptically, 'Climb-it!' "

"Truly, I say to you, if you have faith as a grain of mustard seed, you will say to this mountain, 'Move hence to yonder place,' and it will move; and nothing will be impossible to you." (Matthew 17:21).

Speculatively yours,

East, because of North's reputation as a Fancy Dan, mistrusted the No Trump bid by that worthy and decided he could punish his opponents best by awaiting developments. Not realizing that his own pass was fancy, he was in a quandary when North's pass of the 2-Clubs came to him. Now, he felt, he must make some kind of very strong call if he was not to be let down by his partner's pass. He therefore bid one level higher than necessary in his partner's diamonds.

West did not interpret that bid anything like East hoped. Instead he deduced that it showed a lot of moderate-sized diamonds and nothing else except a short suit somewhere in the hand, if East had to pass on his first turn. So he left it in the 3-Diamonds and consequently saw an available game be missed.

East had several possible sounder courses than that first-round pass. The best could have been either a double or a free bid of 2-Clubs. Either would have resulted eventually in a No Trump game contract for his side, which could have been made easily plus probably two extra tricks. Telling all the truth he could on each turn would have been the surest way to unmask North's psychic.

Doby Clouts Two Homers For Cleveland

Smith Wallops 3-Run Homer Off Ed Lopat, 63,186 Attend Game

NEW YORK, July 23 — (INS)—Al Smith and Larry Doby drove in seven runs tonight as the Cleveland Indians defeated the New York Yankees, 8 to 2, before 63,186 fans—largest crowd of the major league season.

The Indians stretched their American League lead to a game and a half as they copped the first game of a crucial three-game series on the arm of Early Wynn and the big bats of Smith and Doby.

Smith doubled, threw a perfect strike to the plate from the left-field corner to get a Yankee run at the plate, pulled the Indians ahead on a three-run homer and singled-in his fourth and fifth runs of the night to end the scoring.

Doby slammed his 18th and 19th homeruns of the year off Eddie Lopat, who went down to his fourth defeat in 12 decisions and only his 12th in 51 games with Cleveland.

The Yankees outhit the Tribe, 14 to 12, but got only three extra-base hits, all doubles, and left 12 men stranded.

The decision evened the count at six victories apiece for the two clubs against each other this year. The Yankees will pitch Allie Reynolds against Don Mossi tomorrow in an attempt to catch the Tribe.

Gridder Loses Tooth In Restaurant Fight

ANN ARBOR, Mich., July 23 (INS)—Bob "Hunchy" Hoernschemeyer, Detroit Lions' brawny star halfback, pleaded guilty today to a charge of violating an Ann Arbor disorderly fighting ordinance.

The 29-year-old grid star lost a tooth early this morning in a fight in an Ann Arbor restaurant with two former Ann Arbor high school football players.

Police said the fight started when Patrick Conlin, 29 and Benjamin Nicholson, 24, passed remarks about a young lady accompanying Hoernschemeyer and Lions' end Dorne Dibble.

Conlon struck Hoernschemeyer and in trying to hit Conlin back the big halfback accidentally belted Patrolman Wilfred Lyons, who with another officer was attempting to prevent a brawl.

Hoernschemeyer, Conlin and Nicholson all pleaded guilty and were released on bail for sentence Aug. 27. Dibble had not joined in the argument and was not arrested.

Joey Giardello Fined For Disorderly Conduct

PHILADELPHIA, July 23 (INS)—Middleweight boxing contender Joey Giardello paid a $5 fine and magistrate's costs today for disorderly conduct.

Giardello and six companions were arrested early this morning on a South Philadelphia street after neighbors complained of "loud and disturbing noises."

Police said Joey, whose home was robbed of $1,500 last weekend, protested the arrest and asked: "Where were the cops when my place was robbed?"

Blank And Finn Star, Farrady Cops 3-2 Battle

Snap Locals 10-Game String; Grantsville Beats Midland, 9-4

LEGION JR. LEAGUE	W.	L.		W.	L.
Cumberland	10	1	Fulton Myers	4	6
Grantsville	7	4	Frostburg	2	10
Midland	5	7

Bobby Blank's five-hit pitching performance coupled with Mike Finn's timely hitting enabled Farrady Post, Frostburg, to crack the 10-game winning streak of Fort Cumberland Post and hand the locals their first defeat of the season in the Mountain District American Legion Junior Baseball League yesterday at Frostburg. The score was 3-2.

Frostburg scored its three runs in the third and fourth innings and all were batted in by Third Baseman Mike Finn. In the third, Clauson singled and after Groves beat out a bunt, both runners advanced a base when Puffenburger, Fort Cumberland receiver, heaved the ball past first base into right field. Then Mike Finn doubled in the runs that gave Farrady a 2-0 lead. Blank walked to open the fourth and Lennox and Struntz beat out bunts to fill the bases. Clauson flied to Pitcher Wayne Murray and Groves hoisted to Shortstop Lewis. Finn batted home Blank with a single and Roberts struck out.

Blank shut out Cumberland until the 6th when C. Lewis drew a pass and completed the circuit on three passed balls charged to Clauson.

In the 7th Parsons walked, McGregor doubled and Conroy drew a free ticket to fill the bases. Breedlove's fielder's choice scored Parsons and C. Lewis walked loading the hassocks again. Then Blank put on the brakes by whiffing R. Lewis and Charuhas to end the game.

Blank fanned eight batsmen and gave up seven bases on balls. Lefty Wayne Murray whiffed six and issued only one free ticket.

Finn had a perfect day at the plate with three hits in three official trips. Ed Parsons collected two of Cumberland's five hits.

Ed McKenney, Fort Cumberland right fielder, was ejected from the game in the 4th inning after protesting a strike called by Umpire Conn.

Grantsville Wins, 9-4

Grantsville Post took Midland into camp at Grantsville by the score of 9-4. Six runs in the fifth and sixth innings decided this game after Midland had knotted the count at 3-3 in the top of the fourth. The Garrett Countians batted around in both innings and left the sacks loaded each time.

The victory was Grantsville's fifth in six starts and put the runners-up only three games out of first place.

Fred Colaw kept Midland's seven hits well scattered, struck out six and failed to issue a pass. Gray was the loser.

Toby Colaw homered with Carl Mazer aboard in the first inning. His drive cleared the fence, 340 feet from home plate, in right-center. The Colaws shared batting honors with three safeties each. Johnson accounted for three of Midland's bingles. Boxes:

Washington & Lee Cancels 1954 Football Schedule

University To Drop Subsidized Athletics

LEXINGTON, Va., July 23 (AP)—Washington and Lee University today cancelled its 1954 football schedule and President Francis P. Gaines announced the university is through with subsidized athletics.

The Generals, who have been playing intercollegiate football since 1890, were to have opened a nine-game schedule this season against West Virginia University, Southern Conference champion, on Sept. 25.

Dr. Gaines made the announcement by telephone from Washington, where he attended a meeting of the university's Board of Trustees called to discuss the football situation.

Earlier this month, on July 7, the athletic committee of the Board of Trustees had voted to continue intercollegiate football. At the same time, however, the group said a de-emphasis program would begin as soon as possible.

Today's meeting in Washington was called by Dr. Gaines to discuss the situation further and was attended by the full Board of Trustees.

Head Football Coach Carl Wise was out of town and could not be reached for comment. He had signed a three-year contract in February, 1953.

Glen Wilson and Phil Reuschel had three hits each for the winners while Jimmy Eckard garnered two of the six blows yielded by Russ Miller who registered his 9th win of the season.

The win gave Cunningham's an 11-11 record for the season. Score:

The league leaders (13-2) racked up 16 hits with Royce Waltman showing the way with a double and three singles in four trips. Richard Lybarger socked a grand slam home and single and Jack Lowery garnered two bingles. Shaffer smashed a homer and Murphy garnered a triple and single for Corriganville which has failed to crash the win column in 13 starts. Score:

Fain Will Undergo Operation On Knee

CHICAGO, July 23 (AP) — Ferris Fain, star first baseman for the Chicago White Sox, will have his injured right knee operated on next week and possibly may be out of action the remainder of the season.

Fain, who has been hospitalized since Tuesday while awaiting surgery, was injured June 27 in a home plate collision with catcher Sam White of Boston.

He suffered an internal cartilage tear, making it impossible for him to straighten his leg.

Nats Down Tigers

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP) — Washington erupted for five runs in the first inning against Al Aber and breezed to an 8-3 victory over Detroit tonight. Roy Sievers smashed his 16th homerun off Bob Miller with Mickey Vernon aboard in the fifth inning.

Detroit	000	101	001—3 8 2
Washington	500	030	00x—8 10 0

Aber, Miller (1) and Wilson; Stobbs and FitzGerald.

Cerda Upsets Locke

HARROGATE, England, July 23 (AP) — Antonio Cerda, Argentina's ace golfer, gained an upset victory today over Bobby Locke of South Africa, in the Harrogate-Swallow match play tournament over the rainsoaked 6,046-yard Oakdale course.

Cerda won 2 and 1 as the top 16 in the medal play championship fought it out at match play for a $560 first prize. Cerda reached tomorrow's semi-finals with a 2 and 1 second round victory over Reg Horne, Britain.

Jim Browning Upsets Furgol In PGA Match

Snead, Middlecoff Among 16 Survivors; Burke, Toski Beaten

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 23 (AP) — Jim Browning, a paunchy New England home professional, punctured the steady march of favorites today when he cut down the new National Open champion, Ed Furgol, in the second round of the Professional Golfers Association tournament.

The 39-year-old Weston, Mass., links teacher, whose present state Open title is the biggest he's ever won, threw a string of steady pars at the rusty Open king to win on the final hole, one up.

Sam Snead, dangerously close to elimination in the morning round, shook the kinks out of both his sore neck and his golf game in the afternoon to lead other top name performers forward into the third round.

Field Is Cut To 16

Other winners, as the field was cut from 64 to 16, were the defending titleholder, blond Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich.; medalist Ed (Pork Chops) Oliver) former National Open Champion Cary Middlecoff; Johnny Revolta, the jut-jawed 1935 PGA king, and Roberto de Vicenzo, the gay gaucho from the Argentine.

Third round matches will be contested tomorrow, starting at 9 a.m. (CST), over the 36-hole route on the Keller Club course, and this is supposed to be the point where class tells.

Furgol won his opening match from Johnny Weitzel of Hershey, Pa., 3 and 2, but he was fighting from behind almost all the way against Browning after pitching over the green against a fence and taking a bogey five on the first hole.

Browning went two up at the fourth. Furgol rallied to level the match at the turn but the imperturbable New Englander sank a 15-foot birdie putt on the 14th to go ahead and stay there. It was the only hole not halved on the return side.

Snead was the height of inconsistency as he defeated Tony Holguin of Midlothian, Ill., one up in the morning match and walloped JJim Milward of Green Bay, Wis., 4 and 3, in the afternoon.

Burkemo Advances

Burkemo, showing a determination not to give up his title, played superb sub-par golf to eliminate tough Dave Douglas of Grossinger, N. Y., 4 and 2, in the morning and Claude Harmon, the former Masters champion from Mamaroneck, N. Y., 2 and 1 in the afternoon.

Oliver, bouncing his 220 pounds around the course like a berserk billiard ball, put skids under Jackson Bradley of Houston, Tex., 4 and 3, and then ousted Bill Nary of Reno, Nev., one up.

Middlecoff, co-favorite with Snead, had a tight squeeze in the first round before rallying to beat Joe Brown of Des Moines, one up. In the afternoon, he was never headed as he trounced thin Bob Toski of Livingston, N. J., the winter tour sensation, 2 and 1.

Snead Meets Harrison

Tomorrow's feature match pits Snead against E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Louis, who was one of the hottest shooters of the day. Harrison beat Jackie Burke Jr., one up, in a brilliant birdie duel which saw Dutch fire a 66 and Burke a 67. Then Harrison won over Johnny Palmer in the afternoon, 4 and 3.

YOUR REGULAR STYLE

ANY FOLLOWER of boxing has heard the story of Gene Tunney's skillful boxing which enabled him to beat the slugging Jack Dempsey for the championship some two decades ago. What would have happened if Tunney had decided not to box, but to slug it out with the Mauler? Isn't that just what happens if a conservative player comes up against a pair noted for its psychic bids? Trying the same tactics against them constitutes promoting a contest in which they are much more skilled and experienced than yourself. Tell the truth with your actions as best you can—then, if ever.

East, because of North's reputation as a Fancy Dan, mistrusted the No Trump bid by that worthy and decided he could punish his opponents best by awaiting developments. Not realizing that his own pass was fancy, he was in a quandary when North's pass of the 2-Clubs came to him. Now, he felt, he must make some kind of very strong call if he was not to be let down by his partner's pass. He therefore bid one level higher than necessary in his partner's diamonds.

West did not interpret that bid anything like East hoped. Instead he deduced that it showed a lot of moderate-sized diamonds and nothing else except a short suit somewhere in the hand, if East had to pass on his first turn. So he left it in the 3-Diamonds and consequently saw an available game be missed.

East had several possible sounder courses than that first-round pass. The best could have been either a double or a free bid of 2-Clubs. Either would have resulted eventually in a No Trump game contract for his side, which could have been made easily plus probably two extra tricks. Telling all the truth he could on each turn would have been the surest way to unmask North's psychic.

National Guard Units To Begin Summer Camp

Indiantown Gap Site Of Training Base

NORFOLK, Va., July 23 (AP)—The 29th Infantry Division, composed of National Guard units in Virginia, Maryland and West Virginia, will move out tomorrow for two weeks of summer training at Indiantown Gap, Pa.

All units of the division are due in Indiantown Gap Sunday to settle down for two weeks of routine field training.

Division spokesmen said today no big maneuvers are planned and the encampment will consist primarily of routine training.

Infantry regiments will receive unit and tactical training. The division artillery will engage in battery firing tests, while tankmen of the three infantry regiments will hold tank driving and tank firing operations. Service and medical units will provide support for the entire division, and the combat engineers battalion will train in engineer functions.

New Commander

The encampment will be the first under the division's new commander, Maj. Gen. Henry C. Evans of Baltimore. Evans succeeded Maj. Gen. William H. Sands of Norfolk after Sands retired last May.

The division will pass in review Saturday, July 31, on Governor's Day. Governors of Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland have been invited to Indiantown Gap for the ceremonies. At Richmond, the office of Gov. Stanley said he would not be able to accept the invitation.

Millholland Leader

Major components of the 29th are the 116th Inf. Regt. with headquarters in Staunton, commanded by Col. Archibald A. Sproul; the 115th Inf. Regt., with headquarters in Towson, Md., commanded by Col. Randolph Millholland; the 175th Inft. Regt. of Baltimore, commanded by Col. Roger S. Whiteford, and division artillery—two battalions each from Maryland and Virginia—commanded by Col. John P. Cooper Jr. of Baltimore.

West Virginia is represented in the division by the 197th Tank Bn. with headquarters in Moundsville. Commander of the unit is Lt. Col. Harry V. Lemery.

The 29th's antiaircraft battalion will train at Bethany Beach, Del., starting Aug. 14.

Overhead Bridge Plan Advocated By Businessman

Millenson Says City Must Anticipate Needs

The Mayor and Council have been sent letters by George Millenson, The Dingle, a South Cumberland businessman, in which he supports the construction of a crosstown expressway as an answer to Cumberland's traffic problem.

Citing traffic as the major problem facing this city, Millenson's letter states the city's narrow and winding streets tend for congestion and a tremendous loss of time to motorists.

The letter follows:

"Uppermost in the minds of the far-sighted citizens of Cumberland is the importance of a crosstown bridge which has been proposed by the State Roads Commission.

Need Is Recognized

"As a substantial taxpayer and businessman who is looking forward into the future and prosperity of Cumberland, I am prompted to write to you concerning the crosstown bridge. In my opinion, and many other substantial citizens of Cumberland, our number one problem is traffic which only a crosstown bridge can alleviate.

"Our city was laid out about 170 years ago in the horse and buggy days. It is unfortunate that our streets are narrow, winding and not suited for the speedier traffic of today.

"The need for a solution to the traffic problem of Cumberland has long been recognized. Back in 1938, the crosstown bridge was recommended for Cumberland. Also in 1944 and again in 1946. The State Roads Commission survey came up with the same answer each time.

Cites Traffic Study

"May I call your attention to the practice of "block hopping" which occurs at any hour of the day or night? The total number of vehicles which are thus diverted from their intended destination creates congestion at points where normally there would be none. This adds up to a tremendous loss of time.

"The last report of the Cumberland traffic study by the State Roads Commission is a true presentation of facts. These traffic facts have been analyzed and interpreted to determine the recommendations for the crosstown bridge, which appears to be the ultimate and practical solution to our problem.

"If we want Cumberland to grow and prosper it is necessary to anticipate future needs in view of ever-increasing traffic volumes.

"May I assure you that you will have my wholehearted cooperation in this project."

Two Farmers Cast Votes On Wheat Bill

Balloting was anything but heavy yesterday at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office when two county wheat growers cast their votes as part of a nation-wide referendum concerning marketing quotas for the 1955 crops.

Election officials had little trouble in tabulating the results as the two voters killed each other's ballot. One voted for and the other against.

The referendum, according to Albert O'Neal, chairman of the County ASC committee, will determine whether or not the quota program now in effect will continue for next year's crop. Nine wheat growing farmers in the county were eligible to vote yesterday.

The visiting missionary left for the mission field in 1945 and was first engaged in industrial work in Swaziland and the Transvaal. From 1947 until his furlough he served as Bible school principal and construction supervisor at Gazaland, Portuguese East Africa.

A graduate of Eastern Nazarene College, Wollaston, Mass., Rev. Stockwell was a pastor at Cundy's Harbor, Maine, before going to the field. His wife and daughter are with him in the states.

Northern High Band Gets Top Parade Award

Large Crowd Sees Revue At LaVale

The best appearing volunteer fire company with 12 or more men in line of march was the Barton Hose Company, which also received a cash prize of $15.

Parade Chairman Paul Boch said a consolation prize of $5 went to Frostburg volunteer firemen for the best appearing unit riding their fire fighting apparatus.

24 Units Participate

Some 24 units took part in the large parade, including volunteer fire companies from Corriganville, Bowling Green, Cresaptown, Midland, Mt. Savage, McCoole, Grantsville, Barton, Frostburg, Bedford Road, Clarysville, Flintstone, Bowman's Addition, District 16, Baltimore Pike, Deer Park and Salisbury, Pa.

The ladies auxiliary units from Bedford Road, District 16 and Deer Park also paraded. The Ridgeleyettes, a group of baton twirlers under the direction of Miss Janet Ridgeley, participated along with the Lonaconing City Band.

Attracts Large Crowd

A color guard from the Marine Recruiting office here led the parade. The weatherman was cooperative for the evening's revue and a large number of people were in attendance to witness the parade.

Judges were Floyd V. Cozad, Rev. W. W. Patterson, pastor of LaVale Methodist Church, and Chief Edward J. Carey, of the local Navy Recruiting office.

General chairman for the annual summer festival, sponsored by LaVale Fire Company, in Alvin G. Youngblood Sr., who announces that the event will end this evening.

Local Trucker To Be Sentenced In Morals Case

Judge Asks Report Of Whitaker's Background

During a trial held yesterday afternoon in Allegany County Circuit Court, a local truck driver, Victor C. Whitaker, 29, of 251 Columbia Street, was found guilty of the statutory rape of his 11-year-old stepdaughter.

However, Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, who presided at the trial, deferred sentencing Whitaker until a report has been given to him by David M. Steele, probation officer, who has been instructed to submit findings on the defendant's background.

Maximum penalty for such a crime is death or life imprisonment. Whitaker, through his attorney, Earl E. Manges, pleaded guilty although the plea was later changed to nolo contendere.

The defendant waived trial by jury, asked for an immediate trial and went before Judge Harris on criminal information filed Wednesday by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, who prosecuted at the trial which lasted less than an hour.

Introduces Statement

Three witnesses gave testimony during the proceedings. Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, who questioned Whitaker and obtained a signed statement in which the defendant admitted his guilt, said Whitaker had carnal knowledge of his stepdaughter about two weeks before he was taken into custody on July 16.

Lilya also said the defendant admitted having carnal knowledge of the sixth grade student about a year ago. Dr. Winter R. Frantz, Allegany County health officer, testified as to his examination of the child.

When the victim took the stand, she told the court that her stepfather had carnal knowledge of her twice. The first time it occurred, which was about a year ago, the family was living on Centre Street.

Mrs. Whitaker, when informed by Fletcher that she did not have to testify against her husband, declined to add any testimony in the trial.

Attorney Manges pleaded with the court to show mercy on the defendant and said that Whitaker is willing to abide by what the court may lay down when sentence is passed. Manges gave a brief history of Whitaker's life and pointed out that heretofore he was uninterested in religion due to his family background.

Termed Moral Leper

Judge Harris pointed out that the defendant gained the confidence of the child and ravished her thus proving himself a "moral leper." He added that Whitaker's crime is the lowest type of immorality and such crimes cannot and will not be tolerated.

Leniency in such a case may encourage some one else to ruin some other mother's daughter, the judge added. The court asked Steele to investigate Whitaker's background and when the report is submitted to Judge Harris he will consider it and pass sentence.

Whitaker was taken into custody July 16 by Lilya and Lt. James E. Van, of the City Police Detective Bureau, after a complaint had been received from the defendant's wife. He was returned to the County Jail.

Boy Woodmen Plan Camp Trip

A camping trip for members of Frederick C. Dreyer Camp J89, Boys of Woodcraft, is being scheduled near Millenson's Mill on the South Branch of the Potomac River next month.

The juvenile sportsmen club, sponsored by Mountain City Camp 66, Woodmen of the World, recently had the similar outing near the Mill, and "roughed it" by sleeping in tents.

Usual camping and outdoor sports, including swimming boating and fishing were enjoyed by the youths and the trip was under direction of Sebastian "Joe" Spera, director of the organization.

Spera was also in charge of cooking chores and was assisted by H. A. Smith. The group takes part in other activities throughout the year.

Any youth under 16 years of age is welcome to join the organization, Spera added, especially members of WOW and their friends. Other directors of the organization are Sam Sions, George Shaffer, William Crabtree and Smith.

Correction

Due to a typographical error, the Potomac Edison Company estimate for relocation work in connection with the proposed east-west expressway and crosstown bridge as published in yesterday's Cumberland News was incorrect. The estimate was published as $125,000. It should have been $25,000.

A second error in the same story listed the C&A Gas Company relocation estimate in connection with the proposed South Cumberland Industrial Boulevard project as $3,800. It should have read $3,080. The News regrets the errors.

Meeting Is Planned

The Ladies Auxiliary of Old Potomac Lodge 283, International Machinists Association, will meet Monday evening at the Virginia Avenue hose house.

Newspapers, Radio Planning CD Communications Group

BALTIMORE, July 23 (AP)—Maryland newspaper publishers and radio newsmen met with state Civil Defense officials today and decided to form a communications committee to draw up plans for continuing their operations in case of a major emergency.

Edward B. Lyman, deputy director for public affairs at the Federal Civil Defense Administration, told them the number of shock cases in the fireworks plant explosion at Chestertown, Md., last week illustrated the importance of getting information to as many people as possible as fast as possible in a crisis.

Discuss Production

He and Sherley Ewing, Civil Defense director for Maryland, urged the publishers to work out emergency production arrangements with weekly papers removed from large population centers which might draw initial enemy attacks.

Lyman said two communications centers already have been set up in and near Washington for dissemination of news by radio and teletype in event of a bombing attack.

One of these command centers has been set up at a classified location near the White House, he said, and the other at Olney, Md., present location of CD headquarters.

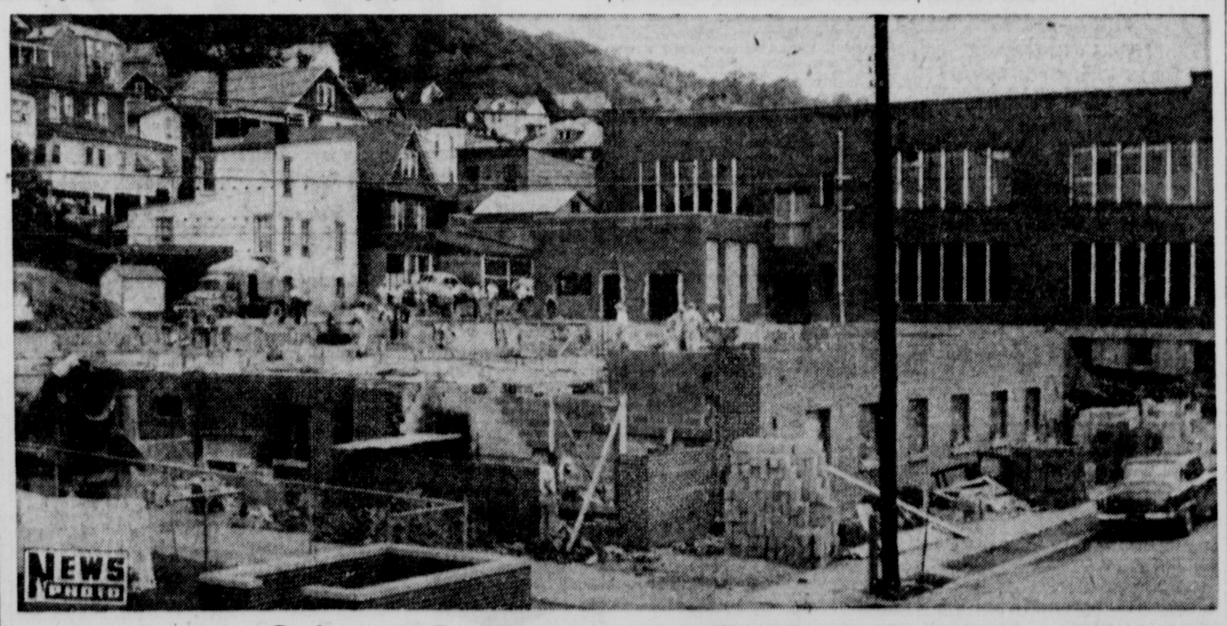

Ewing and Lyman were questioned about the possibility of news media using two-way radio and monitoring civil defense communications channels for news in the event their own wire services are knocked out.

Power Supplies Sought

They also were asked what steps had been taken to assure power supplies for telephones exchanges and other communications centers in the event electric lines were knocked out by sabotage.

All Baltimore telephone exchanges have auxiliary generators, the CD officials said.

Norman Harrington, editor-manager of the Easton Star-Democrat and president of the Maryland Press Association; Oscar Morris, managing editor of the Salisbury Times; Robert L. Lewis of the Hagerstown Herald and Mail; C. Bruce Ernest of the Baltimore Sunpapers; Frederick Archibald of the Baltimore News-Post and Sunday American, and Howard Murphy of the Baltimore Afro-American represented the newspaper industry.

School Construction Progresses

Construction work is progressing on the new addition to Carver High School on Frederick Street, which will include an auditorium-gymnasium and vocational woodworking shop when it is completed. The new construction work is one of nine projects in the $3,500,000 program authorized by the General Assembly of Maryland in 1953 for school improvements in Allegany County. Work is also under way on additions to schools at Flintstone and Oldtown. A new elementary school is under construction in LaVale.

DWELLING—PLUS INCOME

Due to owner leaving the City soon, I am offering a well built brick West Side dwelling which readily shows signs of much time and attention given to making a sturdy, tidy and desirable residence, even down to a lovely rear yard.

Owners occupy the 4 room and bath first floor and have a $150 monthly income from 2nd and 3rd floor apartments.

Purchased in 1948 the work and expense of renovating and modernizing has been considerable AND all of this is a gift to you at the $9850 sale price. To one who feels it difficult to acquire and finally pay-out on a home, take this and let it pay for itself. Must be seen to fully appreciate.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is as follows:

The First National Bank of Cumberland, Trustee under the Last Will and Testament of Mary I. Getty, deceased, has filed its Bill of Complaint in the above entitled case for the construing of the Will of Mary I. Getty and to obtain the instructions of the Court as to the disposition now to be made of the balance of the corpus of said trust fund under the Fourth Paragraph of said Will and to have the Court determine and instruct the Trustee as to the persons entitled to said fund.

The Bill alleges:

1. That it was named Trustee under the Fourth Paragraph of the Last Will and Testament of Mary I. Getty, formerly of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, and was named Executor by the Fifth Paragraph of said Will, and the said Mary I. Getty departed this life in February, 1932, and her said Last Will and Testament was admitted to probate in the Orphans' Court of Allegany County, Maryland, on March 1, 1932; a true copy of said Last Will and Testament being filed herewith as part of this Bill of Complaint, marked "Plaintiff's Exhibit No. One."

2. That said Bank duly qualified as such Executor and administered the said estate in said Orphans' Court. A certified copy of the First and Final Account of said Executor is filed herewith as part of this Bill of Complaint, marked "Plaintiff's Exhibit No. Two."

3. That, as will appear from the said First and Final Account of said Bank as Executor, after the payment of all of the debts and complying with the other provisions of the said will, said Bank had a balance in its hands of Eight Thousand One Hundred Forty Dollars and Forty One Cents ($8,140.41) cash, which it turned over and delivered to the said Bank as Trustee, and the Plaintiff duly qualified as Trustee under said Will and has, since that time, been actively engaged in the administration of said Trust, and has paid the interest and income from said Trust and such part of the corpus as was necessary to Alice K. Steiner, sister of the said Mary I. Getty, in strict accordance with the said Will during her lifetime, the said Alice K. Steiner having departed this life on May 24, 1952.

4. That the said Trustee, after the death of Alice K. Steiner, has paid to the legatees mentioned in Paragraph Four of said Will each and all sums of money due and owing to them as such legatees, totaling the sum of Ten Thousand Four Hundred ($10,400.00) Dollars, and that the cash of said Trust then in the hands of your Trustee was approximately Fifteen Thousand One Hundred Eighty Eight Dollars and Seventy Seven Cents ($15,188.77), and your Trustee therefore now has for further distribution in its hands the cash balance of said Trust, amounting to approximately Four Thousand Seven Hundred Eighty Eight Dollars and Seventy Seven Cents ($4,788.77), and your Trustee is unable to decide whether the same is payable to said legatees mentioned in said Will in addition to the amounts already paid them, or whether said balance of said estate is payable to the heirs and distributees of said Mary I. Getty; and your Trustee is unable to ascertain fully and certainly the names and whereabouts of all of the heirs and distributees of said legatees and all of the heirs and distributees of the said Mary I. Getty, and your Trustee believes and charges that it is necessary to make all of said persons parties to this suit so that this Court may be able to construe the said Will and advise your Trustee as to its proper construction, and decide and inform your Trustee the names of said heirs or legatees now entitled to participate in the balance of said estate and in what amounts.

5. Your Complainant further alleges that the legatees named in the said Will of Mary I. Getty and the heirs of such legatees, according to the best of Complainant's information and belief, together with their addresses and relationship to the said Mary I. Getty are as follows:

Overhead Bridge Plan Advocated By Businessman

Millenson Says City Must Anticipate Needs

The Mayor and Council have been sent letters by George Millenson, The Dingle, a South Cumberland businessman, in which he supports the construction of a crosstown expressway as an answer to Cumberland's traffic problem.

Citing traffic as the major problem facing this city, Millenson's letter states the city's narrow and winding streets tend for congestion and a tremendous loss of time to motorists.

The letter follows:

"Uppermost in the minds of the far-sighted citizens of Cumberland is the importance of a crosstown bridge which has been proposed by the State Roads Commission.

Need Is Recognized

"As a substantial taxpayer and businessman who is looking forward into the future and prosperity of Cumberland, I am prompted to write to you concerning the crosstown bridge. In my opinion, and many other substantial citizens of Cumberland, our number one problem is traffic which only a crosstown bridge can alleviate.

"Our city was laid out about 170 years ago in the horse and buggy days. It is unfortunate that our streets are narrow, winding and not suited for the speedier traffic of today.

"The need for a solution to the traffic problem of Cumberland has long been recognized. Back in 1938, the crosstown bridge was recommended for Cumberland. Also in 1944 and again in 1946. The State Roads Commission survey came up with the same answer each time.

Cites Traffic Study

"May I call your attention to the practice of "block hopping" which occurs at any hour of the day or night? The total number of vehicles which are thus diverted from their intended destination creates congestion at points where normally there would be none. This adds up to a tremendous loss of time.

"The last report of the Cumberland traffic study by the State Roads Commission is a true presentation of facts. These traffic facts have been analyzed and interpreted to determine the recommendations for the crosstown bridge, which appears to be the ultimate and practical solution to our problem.

"If we want Cumberland to grow and prosper it is necessary to anticipate future needs in view of ever-increasing traffic volumes.

"May I assure you that you will have my wholehearted cooperation in this project."

Balloting was anything but heavy yesterday at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office when two county wheat growers cast their votes as part of a nation-wide referendum concerning marketing quotas for the 1955 crops.

The referendum, according to Albert O'Neal, chairman of the County ASC committee, will determine whether or not the quota program now in effect will continue for next year's crop. Nine wheat growing farmers in the county were eligible to vote yesterday.

Local Trucker To Be Sentenced In Morals Case

Judge Asks Report Of Whitaker's Background

During a trial held yesterday afternoon in Allegany County Circuit Court, a local truck driver, Victor C. Whitaker, 29, of 251 Columbia Street, was found guilty of the statutory rape of his 11-year-old stepdaughter.

However, Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, who presided at the trial, deferred sentencing Whitaker until a report has been given to him by David M. Steele, probation officer, who has been instructed to submit findings on the defendant's background.

Maximum penalty for such a crime is death or life imprisonment. Whitaker, through his attorney, Earl E. Manges, pleaded guilty although the plea was later changed to nolo contendere.

The defendant waived trial by jury, asked for an immediate trial and went before Judge Harris on criminal information filed Wednesday by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, who prosecuted at the trial which lasted less than an hour.

Introduces Statement

Three witnesses gave testimony during the proceedings. Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, who questioned Whitaker and obtained a signed statement in which the defendant admitted his guilt, said Whitaker had carnal knowledge of his stepdaughter about two weeks before he was taken into custody on July 16.

Lilya also said the defendant admitted having carnal knowledge of the sixth grade student about a year ago. Dr. Winter R. Frantz, Allegany County health officer, testified as to his examination of the child.

When the victim took the stand, she told the court that her stepfather had carnal knowledge of her twice. The first time it occurred, which was about a year ago, the family was living on Centre Street.

Mrs. Whitaker, when informed by Fletcher that she did not have to testify against her husband, declined to add any testimony in the trial.

Attorney Manges pleaded with the court to show mercy on the defendant and said that Whitaker is willing to abide by what the court may lay down when sentence is passed. Manges gave a brief history of Whitaker's life and pointed out that heretofore he was uninterested in religion due to his family background.

Termed Moral Leper

Judge Harris pointed out that the defendant gained the confidence of the child and ravished her thus proving himself a "moral leper." He added that Whitaker's crime is the lowest type of immorality and such crimes cannot and will not be tolerated.

Leniency in such a case may encourage some one else to ruin some other mother's daughter, the judge added. The court asked Steele to investigate Whitaker's background and when the report is submitted to Judge Harris he will consider it and pass sentence.

Whitaker was taken into custody July 16 by Lilya and Lt. James E. Van, of the City Police Detective Bureau, after a complaint had been received from the defendant's wife. He was returned to the County Jail.

Boy Woodmen Plan Camp Trip

A camping trip for members of Frederick C. Dreyer Camp J89, Boys of Woodcraft, is being scheduled near Millenson's Mill on the South Branch of the Potomac River next month.

The juvenile sportsmen club, sponsored by Mountain City Camp 66, Woodmen of the World, recently had the similar outing near the Mill, and "roughed it" by sleeping in tents.

Usual camping and outdoor sports, including swimming boating and fishing were enjoyed by the youths and the trip was under direction of Sebastian "Joe" Spera, director of the organization.

Spera was also in charge of cooking chores and was assisted by H. A. Smith. The group takes part in other activities throughout the year.

Any youth under 16 years of age is welcome to join the organization, Spera added, especially members of WOW and their friends. Other directors of the organization are Sam Sions, George Shaffer, William Crabtree and Smith.

Correction

Due to a typographical error, the Potomac Edison Company estimate for relocation work in connection with the proposed east-west expressway and crosstown bridge as published in yesterday's Cumberland News was incorrect. The estimate was published as $125,000. It should have been $25,000.

A second error in the same story listed the C&A Gas Company relocation estimate in connection with the proposed South Cumberland Industrial Boulevard project as $3,800. It should have read $3,080. The News regrets the errors.

Meeting Is Planned

Newspapers, Radio Planning CD Communications Group

BALTIMORE, July 23 (AP)—Maryland newspaper publishers and radio newsmen met with state Civil Defense officials today and decided to form a communications committee to draw up plans for continuing their operations in case of a major emergency.

Edward B. Lyman, deputy director for public affairs at the Federal Civil Defense Administration, told them the number of shock cases in the fireworks plant explosion at Chestertown, Md., last week illustrated the importance of getting information to as many people as possible as fast as possible in a crisis.

Discuss Production

He and Sherley Ewing, Civil Defense director for Maryland, urged the publishers to work out emergency production arrangements with weekly papers removed from large population centers which might draw initial enemy attacks.

Lyman said two communications centers already have been set up in and near Washington for dissemination of news by radio and teletype in event of a bombing attack.

One of these command centers has been set up at a classified location near the White House, he said, and the other at Olney, Md., present location of CD headquarters.

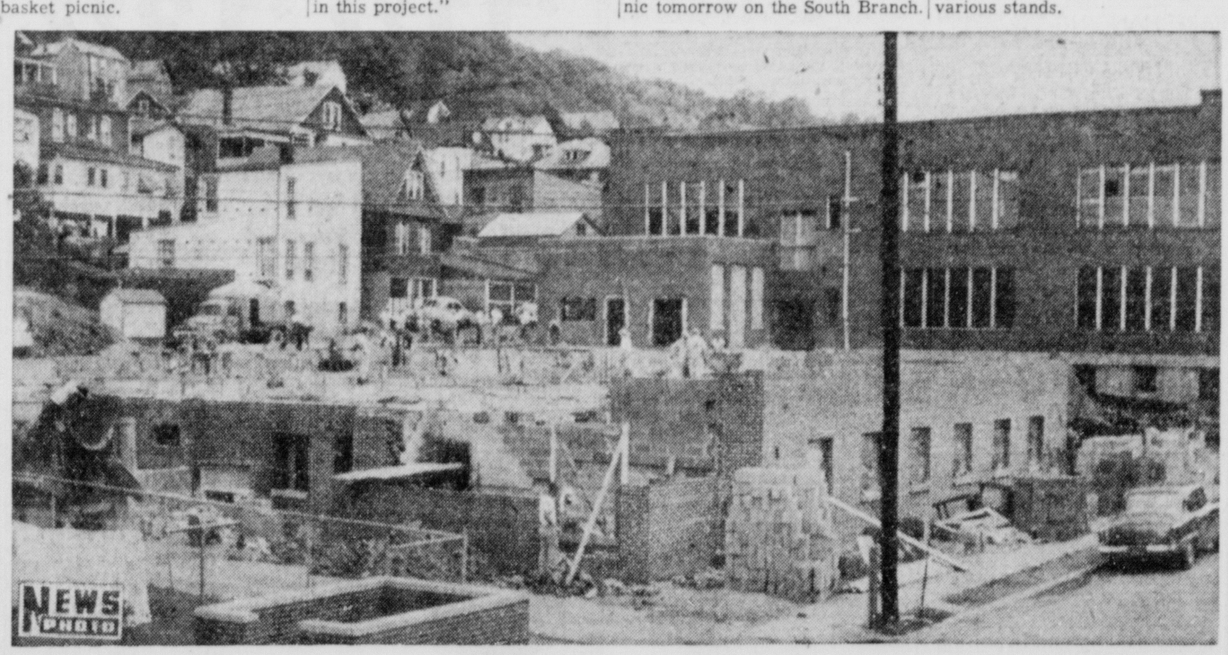

Ewing and Lyman were questioned about the possibility of news media using two-way radio and monitoring civil defense communications channels for news in the event their own wire services are knocked out.

Power Supplies Sought

They also were asked what steps had been taken to assure power supplies for telephones exchanges and other communications centers in the event electric lines were knocked out by sabotage.

All Baltimore telephone exchanges have auxiliary generators, the CD officials said.

Norman Harrington, editor-manager of the Easton Star-Democrat and president of the Maryland Press Association; Oscar Morris, managing editor of the Salisbury Times; Robert L. Lewis of the Hagerstown Herald and Mail; C. Bruce Ernest of the Baltimore Sunpapers; Frederick Archibald of the Baltimore News-Post and Sunday American, and Howard Murphy of the Baltimore Afro-American represented the newspaper industry.

School Construction Progresses

Construction work is progressing on the new addition to Carver High School on Frederick Street, which will include an auditorium-gymnasium and vocational woodworking shop when it is completed. The new construction work is one of nine projects in the $3,500,000 program authorized by the General Assembly of Maryland in 1953 for school improvements in Allegany County. Work is also under way on additions to schools at Flintstone and Oldtown. A new elementary school is under construction in LaVale.
